Update on Peripatetic Music Teachers

Dear parents,

Violin teaching

From previous communications, you will know that Mrs Cathy Smart, our violin teacher, had wanted to retire from her position. Due to the challenge of finding a suitable replacement, coupled with her commitment to her current group of pupils, this had been delayed until now. Mrs Smart has already contacted the parents of her pupils, but this letter confirms that Mrs Smart has retired from her teaching at the school, as we welcome Miss Heidi Lewis, a well-qualified music teacher to take on her role. The children were able to say goodbye and thankyou to Mrs Smart in a farewell assembly today.

If your child is interested in taking up violin lessons, please do contact the school office or Mr Jacot, our Music lead teacher.

Guitar teaching

A small group of children had been receiving guitar lessons with Mr David Reece. Unfortunately, Mr Reece has informed the school that he has had to cancel his guitar teaching due to personal reasons. This development was not planned, and therefore the school will be looking for a suitable guitar teacher for this position. Sadly, we are not able to offer any guitar lessons until we have achieved this. If any parent knows of a guitar teacher that could teach in a school setting, please do contact the school office.

Kind regards,

Phil Harvey

Headteacher
