Jungle Book- a retelling

It was seven o'clock on a humid evening deep in the Seeonee Hills. Father wolf woke up after his long afternoon's rest and elongated his stiff body. Meanwhile, the jackal entered the cave and gave a blessing to the beguiling wolf's babies. Mother wolf invited the misbehaving jackal into the cave, but told him there was no food here. Father wolf wasn't happy to see him - he was a scavenger after all - but he was still nice to him, since he was giving the babies a blessing. In return, the jackal shared his news about Shere Khan changing his hunting grounds, and the tiger's desire for man-flesh. Father wolf knows it's a bad idea to pursue man, since it will scare the jungle and it's against their law.
