The Jungle Book retelling

It was 7pm on a warm, beautiful evening in the Seonee hills. Father Wolf looked beguiling in the moon light. He woke up from the day's sleep, scratched himself and stretched. He got ready to hunt for meat. The jackal came into the cave and gave the blessing to the wolf babies. Father Wolf spread his paws out really far to give him lots of energy so he can go out hunting for food.

Tabaqui, the jackal, said that he is very poor and weak, doesn't have much food to eat and asked for a bone.
