

The Jungle Book

LH

The jackal

It was 7 o' clock on a warm evening. Farther wolf rose from his day's sleep. His carpet of fur, which was as grey as a thunder cloud, was wild and scruffy. Sluggishly, Farther wolf yawned and stretched. He was ready to hunt. Out of the corner of his eye, he spotted a greedy jackal. He entered the abyss of darkness. "I wish your cubs white teeth." Blessed the jackal, father wolf could tell he was a scavenger. Farther went out to hunt.

News of Shere Khan

"There is no food in here!" Farther wolf bellowed belligerently. And just at that very moment Tabaqui found a bone at the back of the cave." A bone is enough," Tabaqui assured. And suddenly, Tabaqui devoured the meatless bone in one gulp.

Man eater

"No way!" Farther wolf barked. Changing the location of where you hunt is breaking the law of the jungle. "I need to ascertain this!"