

The Jungle Book (retelling)

One scorching evening in a cave- which had wolves in - had just awoke. Father wolf stretched his massive paw on the floor. "Arrrrr it's a another hot evening time for hunting" said father wolf, then a jackal pooped on the step and said " good look for hunting and let your cubs have lovely white teeth" said the jackal, and they let him in "be nice" said mother wolf. But he was. Shere khan came in and was hunting then he made a massive noise and scared all the animals away "he can't go hunting making that noise" said father wolf. "MAN" bellowed father wolf, the cubs went up to the man went up to a nearby branch and grabbed onto it. "You are so beguiling aren't you" said mother wolf. Then she picked it up by the loose skin and lay him down on a nest
