Dear Parents,

One of my most important jobs as Executive Headteacher of both schools is to check that we are teaching the children as best as we possibly can.

At the moment I am watching all the reading lessons and I'm happy to tell you that the teachers are really good at teaching reading.

Because this happens first thing every morning I'm really noticing how many children are arriving late and missing their reading turn. It breaks my heart because unless children can read they won't be able to cope with all the other subjects.

Thank you to all the parents who get their children to school on time. You are giving your children the best chance to do well at school and in life.

Yours sincerely

Martine Buckley
