EXTREME READING CHALLENGE!

Where is the most extreme place your child has ever read a book? Whether it is up a tree, on top of a mountain or standing on their head, we want your photos!

We want to create a real buzz around reading amongst our children, so we are setting you the challenge of finding the most extreme place to read a book and to photograph it.

Photographs can be emailed to office@st-augustines.norfolk.sch.uk or printed off and given to your class teacher so that we can create a display to inspire reading within the school. Please make sure that you include your name and your class. There will be prizes for the most extreme readers in each key stage and even a parent prize! The competition will run until Friday 8th February with winners announced in assembly on Monday 11th February.

Obviously, we encourage you to keep safe (I wouldn't recommend reading in the jaws of a crocodile!) but we are really looking forward to seeing who in school has such a passion for reading that they have to do it anywhere and everywhere!

Good luck!
