

Thank you and congratulations to you all

Thank you for all your support in raising money for our local Phyllis Tuckwell Hospice. We are so proud that we worked together to raise such a considerable sum.

As you will all know, two of our 7x7 challenges involve exercise and serving the community. This project brought these two elements together and demonstrated to the children the difference they can make. <http://www.allsaints-tilford.surrey.sch.uk/curriculum/7-by-7>

Keep talking!

The children will be bringing home a new vocabulary mat and stories for the new theme 'Tell Me a Story'. Please share these with the children and discuss themes around these words, thank you.

There are theme webs outlining the skills and knowledge the children will be aiming to gain this half term. Please visit the All Saints website and click 'Learning' from the top tab and select the relevant class for your child.

Educational research proves that time spent building general knowledge and vocabulary enables children to have the self-confidence to talk and link ideas. This supports our children in reaching the very highest outcomes as well as a joy of learning.

World Book Day

In keeping with the theme 'Tell Me A Story' we would like you to discuss with the children dressing up for World Book Day on 7th March as one of their favourite characters from a fairytale. Mrs Bedford may come as a prince!

Parents choosing All Saints

We are delighted to have had such a positive response to applications for 2019 at All Saints. The children, staff and parents have shared what they love about the school at our open mornings with prospective parents. Thank you all for sharing the reputation of All Saints in the local community. It really does make a difference! This continues to keep All Saints in a strong position for the future.

Working with other schools

As a small school it is important that we are outward looking and we are currently working on lots of projects with local Farnham schools as well as a Hampshire and a London school to drive improvement. At present our teachers are developing our rich and broad curriculum to improve outcomes in writing and maths. We are part of the South Farnham Teaching School Alliance and will be having Miss Anna Stacey, a trainee teacher, working with us this term. We also have a trainee teacher, Miss Rhiannon Walker, working in Year 2 from the Innovation Teaching Partnership. This has mutual benefits both for our school and the children and we are honoured to be asked to develop the teachers of the future.
