Whole school homework for this term
To be back in school on Thursday 7th March 2019
Show me what you know about Journeys.

There are many types of journeys and all have a purpose. At school we are focusing on the journeys made to school and how children in some parts of the world go to extraordinary lengths just to get to school. The reason for this focus is to underline the importance of good attendance and punctuality and to support our school travel plan objectives.

Age appropriate suggested activities are being sent by each class teacher in the homework books alongside this letter. Some ideas include:

- Research religious journeys
- Research explorers historical and modern
- Describe a journey that you have been on e.g. A holiday
- Draw maps/make models of journeys
- Make a model of a mode of transport

As always project homework is compulsory and we expect every child to draw, write or make something.

A large sample of the homework will be displayed around school and will be available to be viewed during our parent evenings.

This is a change to the plan sent out in the Autumn term when we suggested that the spring term focus would be on class specific homework and this will now take place in the Summer term.

Homework will be given out each week of the school year apart from the first and last week in each term.
