Our art work is almost finished and ready to go on display. Their mosaic collage backgrounds are stunning and the children showed great patience to keep working on them.

Writing

This week we read a Ghanaian myth about how wisdom was spread into the world. The children have drawn story maps and planned some great vocabulary. They have begun writing a newspaper report about the story, imagining the events really happened. They will be finished on Monday!

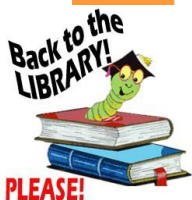

World Book Day

We had such fun on World Book Day. The children obviously enjoyed dressing up, and I enjoyed seeing their imaginative play at break time. We spent part of our day making ocean-themed items for our new and improved book corner! It isn't quite finished yet but it already looks great!

Other Information

Miss Graham (our BEd student teacher) returns on Monday. Please have a hunt for any old Library books at home. There is an amnesty box outside the library.

Don't forget...

Please make sure you have paid for the trip to Woburn Safari Park as well as returning the letter.

Friday 15th March is Red Nose Day! Wear your own clothes (something red if possible) and bring £1.
