Comic Relief & Worlds Down Syndrome Day

With Comic Relief today and World Down Syndrome Day the following week we are combining the two events and inviting children to wear odd socks to nursery today. Parents can join in too!

Have you accessed the 50 things to do before you're five app? This weekend you could look at activity # 10 and share a book with your child.

Not only does reading and sharing stories support language development but it can help children learn and understand so much about themselves and the world in which they live. Books can also help to soothe and calm even the most tired of childrenand adults! So if you do one thing each day for your child – make sure you read a book together. You could also join your local library where you can borrow books for free! Visit:-
