Dear Parents/Carers

World Book Day

This year, we will be celebrating World Book Day on Friday 15th March. We are delighted to welcome John Kirk, a professional story teller who specialises in traditional tales. In light of this, we are inviting children to come dressed as characters from traditional tales. These could be nursery rhymes, traditional bed time stories, tales from other cultures or any story which is traditionally communicated through word of mouth.

We have a range of activities planned to help children to develop their love of reading and one of the most powerful experiences children can have is sharing and engaging with texts that others have enjoyed. We will therefore be holding a book swap within our year groups. If your child has a book that they have read and enjoyed but no longer need, we would encourage them to bring it into school so that they may swap it with another child, thus broadening their literary experience. Please note, children will only be able to participate in the book swap if they bring in a book to swap.

If you have any questions about the day, please speak with your class teacher.

Yours sincerely
