Headteacher's Weekly Message

Dear Parents & Carers,

We were hoping that we would be able to have the Key Stage 1 shelter mended this half term. However it looks as though it might be a longer process than we first thought. We may possibly have to have it taken down. This is a real shame as it is good to use it when the weather is wet but it looks like it will be a really expensive job.

It was great to see such a good turnout at the visiting Book Fair this week. Children's reading for pleasure is so crucial for their learning in all areas of the curriculum. It can be really hard to engage some children in reading particularly if they find it a struggle. It's not very pleasurable to stumble your way through a school scheme book. But even when children don't enjoy reading themselves they love listening to stories and looking at pictures. Once they have mastered the basics the real joy of reading can begin. It takes perseverance though and everyone working together to make it happen.

Parents' evenings are only a couple of weeks away so the sign-up sheets are now displayed outside classrooms.. If you have difficulty getting into school for whatever reason please give the office a call and we will try to arrange this for you.

Next week looks like being very busy. We have lots of pupil progress meetings being held after the assessment week this week. It is also Safer Internet day on Tuesday and the children will do some activity about safety online.

Have a warm weekend

Why is Attendance/ Punctuality so important

Number of minutes late every school day and days missed each year as a result
