Background

The COVID-19 pandemic led to significant movement restrictions and numerous international flights disruptions. Consequently, humanitarian organisations responding to the pandemic and other emergencies face multiple operational challenges, including difficulties in deploying expertise and moving urgently required medical goods and personal protective equipment. The Pacific Logistics Cluster is supporting the regional and country health response led by WHO and Health Ministries.

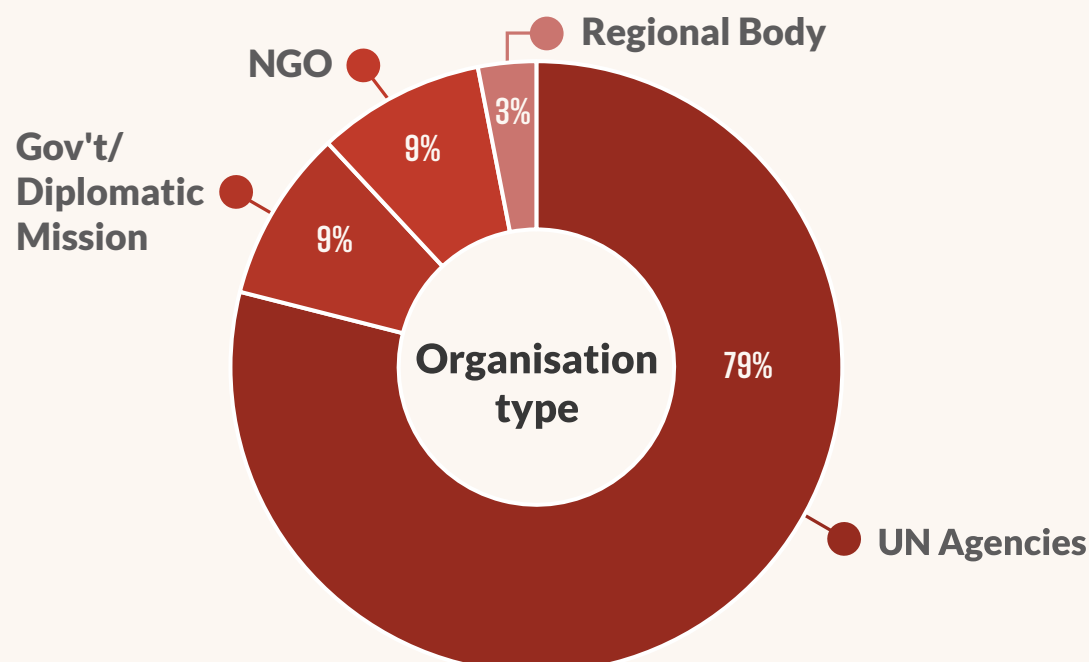

Situational Highlights

- Air and sea freight options remain limited due to COVID-19 safety measures and restrictions being implemented in several Pacific Island Countries and Territories (PICTs).
- Humanitarian partners are giving special focus on responding to the ongoing surge of COVID-19 cases in Fiji and Papua New Guinea.
- Passenger flight restrictions continue. Travelers with COVID-19 vaccination records are given special consideration in a number of PICTs such as the Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas Islands, French Polynesia, and New Caledonia.
