Origins – Humanitarian Logistics Certification Programme (HLCP)

- Humanitarian Logistics Conferences – 2003–2004
- Survey of Professional Logisticians - 2004
- Problems Identified:
  1. Lack of recognition of the importance of logistics
  2. Lack of professional staff
  3. Lack of institutional learning and memory
  4. Limited collaboration
  5. Inadequate use of technology

Suggested solution: Standardized Training - CHL

Origins – Certification of Humanitarian Logistics (CHL)

- Launched in 2006, CHL provides the foundational skills and knowledge to enable the learner to manage an ‘end to end’ humanitarian supply chain
- Target Learner: Entry- to mid-level logistics managers and staff working at an operational-level
- Content inclusion led by the CAG (Certification Advisory Group)
- Certification verified by the Chartered Institute of Logistics and Transport (CILT)
- Tests and coaching facilitated by the Logistics Learning Alliance

Managing a Response
Conversion of CHL into e-Learning

GOAL: Making CHL more accessible while maintaining the same standard of learning

- Provide access to broader audience
- Make it more affordable
- Awareness raising re: modularization
- Lighten the content
- Reduce completion time
- Ensure better retention
- Enable skills practice
- Tasks in real life scenario

“What a Course!!!.....Incredible course content.......Thank you to all the partners for putting together this amazing course on Humanitarian Logistics........I am eternally grateful for the opportunity to benefit from this great course.” – Recent e-learning user

CHL e-learning hosted by DisasterReady
CHL e-Learning – Materials Structure

- Competence Model
- Learning Materials
- Reality-Based Scenario
- Tasks
CHL e-Learning – How It Works

• Consists of seven units each featuring a series of scenario-based tasks and skill check questions
• As you go through each task, you will be prompted with learning materials and resources to help you learn and answer questions
• Completion time maximum 39 hours

HLCP Next Steps

• Enquiry and Registration for the HLCP Programmes are open continuously, if you would like further details on any of the programmes or awards please go to https://www.hlcertification.org/

• We will also be reviewing the feasibility of a similar conversion process for the other HLCP certifications, starting with MedLog. Would you like to participate in this conversion?
Thanks for Your Time!
