

HENRY AUDITION SIDES

Please interpret this dialogue however you see fit. We are looking for an actor who can bring the text off the page. Record it as audio in a quiet space so the vocals are clear. A phone recording will be sufficient, please don't spend lots of time perfecting it and worry over the quality as long as we can hear you clearly that is fine with us.

Day is a 7

Started off a 3, alarm clock went off way too early Snoozed for England

Snoozed and slept

What's the difference?

When does a snooze become a sleep?

Then the day smoothed into a 7 with a fantastic bagel Is that the one with the hole?

'Bagel'

Good word

Not as good as 'drizzle' Mum's lemon drizzle cake Great word, great cake

Ray - sorry, Dad – loves it too The cake, not the word.

Down to a 1 with next door's dog. Not my fault

Should tie him up

Wanted to play

So I threw the Frisbee Over the road

Into the field

Behind the trees Landed in a pile of shit

Dog dug it out

Dog's breath stunk

Dog's breath stinks anyway

Next door went ballistic

Almost a zero

Almost a fucking minus.

Gave it a 1, cos you know, seeing that dog Run

All the Bens Audi-on for Henry

Free

Wagging his tail. That was special. That was champion.

So I kicked their fence in and ran away, They won't know it was me.

Unless they saw me.

Which they might have done.

If they were watching.
