

The Dilatory One

Logline

Logline

One day, a man makes it his duty to harass and bother everyone he runs into, showing up late to work and getting fired in the process. Meanwhile, on a different day, the same man shows a more decent side of himself, which causes numerous good things to happen to him such as receiving a promotion.