LIGHT HOUSE

Since reopening in 2012 under the management of Element Pictures (The Lobster, The Killing Of A Sacred Deer, The Little Stranger, Disobedience, The Favourite) Light House has redefined the cinema experience in one of the world's only subterranean cinemas situated over 3 stories under the historic cobblestoned surroundings of Smithfield's Market Square in Dublin 7.

Traditional venues certainly have their time and place, but sometimes you need a location that gives your event the wow factor and offers a memorable experience for your guests.

"Light House is a fantastic venue — the team take the time to listen to our requirements and help us plan and deliver excellent events for our authors and customers."

Food and beverages can be themed to suit each event and the creative possibilities are endless.

“CBI has held its annual international conference at the Light House for the past five years and the experience has always been a pleasure, thanks in large part to Amy. The space is ideal for us — large enough to accommodate our guests for the main event, with plenty of storage space plus breakout space for a bookshop, signings and a drinks reception afterwards. Our delegates travel from all over the country and our guest speakers from all over the world, and the location of the Light House is ideal: central and easily accessible. We’ll be happy to use the venue again.”
