Guilty by Olivier London

Ready for some new flavour in your life? Well, brace yourself because Chef Olivier Da Costa has teamed up with the UK's very first nhow hotel to launch the country's first Guilty restaurant. Whether you're dining with friends or having a workday lunch, drop in for a meal that'll rock your taste buds right in the heart of the city. And the excitement doesn't stop there - we have a DJ spinning tunes every weekend (and whenever is needed) to keep the party vibes going.

We can't wait to welcome you to a place where tradition, innovation, and guilty pleasures collide, creating a London experience like no other. Get ready for a reloaded London adventure!

the lobby

Our lobby is a real masterpiece, thanks to the creative contributions of local hidden talents and globally recognised artists. It's the ultimate hangout spot in East London where you can eat, chill, mingle, get some work done, and just kick back.

Whether you're hustling by the cosy fire, grabbing a well-deserved drink at the bar, or digging into our all-day menu, we've got you covered!

our underground gym draws inspiration

from the iconic London Tube, featuring elements reminiscent of its platforms and tunnels. We've equipped the gym with modern fitness gear, including seven machines to help you stay in shape. And the best part? It's all on the house for our guests. Feel free to make the most of it!

let's get down to business

Say goodbye to mundane meetings and say hello to your next gathering at a space built to ignite creativity. We've ditched the oldschool norms and crafted three modern workspaces, complete with top-notch tech, innovative design, and unique personality. From intimate huddles to grand conferences, we've got the ideal space for you.

modern meeting spaces designed to inspire

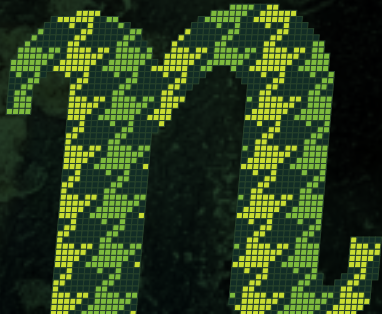

We have steered away from the traditional and created three modern inspiration hubs with the latest technological equipment, innovative design and individual character. From small meetings to larger conferences, we have the space for you.
