OUR NAME

Our name is literally a mark of respect for one of the greatest inland trade routes, the Grand Canal. Our direct link with the exotic trading hubs of Europe, the Grand Canal's 82 miles were lined with cast iron 'markers'. These markers were like milestones, showing travellers how far they had to go until journey's end. The final marker was right here, in Grand Canal Square. Inspired by the innate Irish love of adventure, travel and trade, our name embodies this rich history, giving it a new sense of place in a contemporary context.

OUR ARCHITECTURE

Our architecture draws on the elemental nature of the Irish landscape and combines it with a sleek urban aesthetic, creating an experience that is distinctly Irish and truly inimitable. Inspiration comes from the geometric shapes that exist naturally on our Island, from the rugged Burren Landscape to the unique hexagonal stones of the Giant's Causeway.

This elemental style is carried right through from the stunning ground floor cocktail bar and brasserie, through the unique geometric layouts of our 187 bedrooms, to the stunning rooftop garden, reaching across the cityscape, to the wild natural beauty of the mountains and the sea.

Our spaces are visually arresting and surprising too. Our wellness spa boasts a stunning infinity pool - a genuine sanctuary for our guests and a rare find in such a central city location.

ROOMS

Our rooms and suites have stunning views over Grand Canal Square and the Docklands, to the Dublin and Wicklow mountains and right out to sea. With an emphasis on original, cutting edge design our rooms deliver on style and comfort.

OUR HISTORY

Steeped in the old and resonating with the new, the Marker is the newest chapter of a rich history that spans millennia. Originally a significant Viking Settlement and Port, Dublin's character has been shaped by architecture spanning from Medieval to Modern times.

Built by the greatest engineers of the age, the Grand Canal Docks were the final point of the Grand Canal (An Chanáil Mhór), connecting Dublin, in the east of Ireland, with the River Shannon in the west, via a series of villages and towns.

HOTEL BAR BRASSERIE

THE BRASSERIE

With a sharp focus on Irish, locally sourced produce, the Brasserie is a refreshing addition to the Grand Canal restaurant scene. Located right beside the Bord Gais Energy Theatre, it's the perfect pre-theatre destination.

The rich elemental theme of the Marker comes to life in this space. The bold, abstract ceiling and modern, minimal furniture are complimented by soft woods and natural stone. A spectacular white marble table dominates the space, while private booths and banquette seating create just the right amount of privacy for intimate dining. Our exclusive Communal Table is really special, designed to bringing that extra little something to your gathering.

In Ireland, the traditional way of cooking is to create simple dishes, built around one great ingredient. The Brasserie is no different. From succulent rare breed pork or prime dry-aged beef we try to stay true to our Irish roots. Try our prix fixe theatre menu, or go all the way with the Journey's End tasting menu, complimented with a robust selection of fine wines.

ROOFTOP LOUNGE

We've taken lounging to a new level on the Rooftop. Chilled out in the true sense of the word, our informal sharing plates feature exquisite little bites, bursting with vibrant Mediterranean flavours. Served against an awesome city backdrop, this really is the destination for style conscious urbanites. Have as little or as much as you like and pair up each nibble with a biodynamic wine or craft beer.

Relaxed all day alfresco dining moves towards a more upbeat ambience at sunset. Our mixologists have turned tradition cocktail making into an art form. Layering different textures and intensities of flavour, molecular mixology is a little bit of alchemy and a lot of fun!

THE MARKER BAR

The Marker Bar exudes its own unique style and ambience. Modern, fresh, and totally laid back, it draws an eclectic mix of people through its doors. It's got some really unique features too, that strike just the right balance between work and play.

Our gorgeous feature fire provides the perfect setting for a long, lazy afternoon, flicking through the papers, in perfectly cosy surroundings. A long workbench with directional lighting and docking points is the perfect for informal meetings and catching up with a bit of work. Or you can grab a helping of fresh air in the alfresco outdoor terrace area.

As for the food? Well, you'll find all the classics, kept simple, using locally sourced ingredients. Choose from seasonal soups, gourmet sandwiches and charcuterie plates or try some delicious Irish Farmhouse cheeses drizzled with locally sourced honey. While the food speaks for itself, we can also help you choose the perfect craft beer or wine to make things really special.
