REVIVAL OF THE NEWSROOM

The Slaak Rotterdam, a Tribute Portfolio hotel, is a design boutique hotel housed in the former pressroom 'Het Slaakhuys'. 'Het Slaakhuys' was home to newspaper 'Het Vrije Volk' from 1955 until 1972, which has been the biggest newspaper of The Netherlands during the period after the war. By maintaining this 'reconstruction monument' and its newspaper history The Slaak Rotterdam offers an unique, authentic experience. Be intrigued by its characterizing architecture and design inspired by the prosperity and freedom of the 50's.

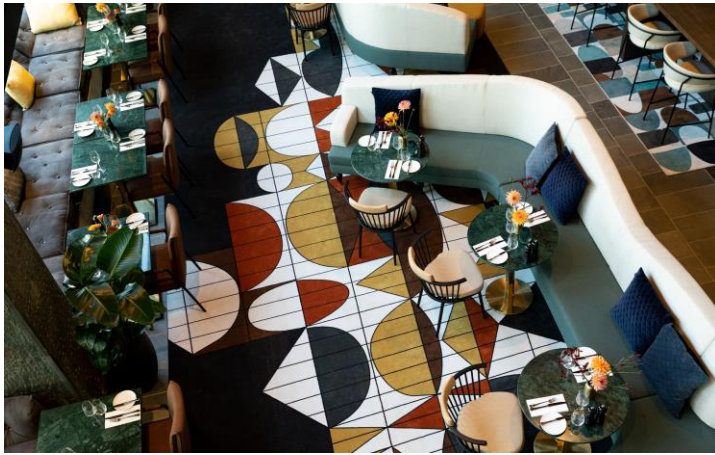

Come at ease in one of the 74 design rooms or suites after a long day of working or exploring. All rooms offer a professional bedding, walk-in rain shower, interactive TV and other luxurious amenities. Enjoy the spacious layout with comfortable sofa, lounge chair and dining table of The Slaak Loft, the bath and balcony of The Slaak Executive or an one-bedroom suite with the The Slaak Suite.

rooms & suites:

- The Slaak Room (18) - 23 m2
- The Slaak Loft (36) - 34 m2
- The Slaak Loft Double Double (6) - 34 m2
- The Slaak Executives (9) - 40 m2
- The Slaak Suite (5) - 52-67 m2

GET TOGETHER

The Slaak Rotterdam is a social hub, whether it is for work or play. Bring your guests together and have meaningful meetings at our pressrooms or in one of our hotel suites. Our two pressrooms of 30m2 allow flexible set-ups, currently enhancing 1.5meters distance 6 persons each.

CELEBRATING THE FIFTIES

Take the time to connect and celebrate; our Upper Bar is ideal for private gatherings overlooking the vibrant stage of our hotel. Indulge yourself in Restaurant & Bar Didot34 for a delicious breakfast, business lunch, a well-deserved dinner or a special cocktail reception. Didot34 is a quirky destination with a programming and activation encouraging the social scene, e.g. Jazz34 nights.

The Slaak Rotterdam, a Tribute Portfolio Hotel, found a way to once again be a hub for the neighbourhood through which stories are told. Stories that are told in the moment, through the time you spend here and through the memories you make. Let us be part of your story.
