

An aerial photograph of the Docklands area in Melbourne, Australia, during the golden hour of sunset. The sky is a mix of soft orange and pale blue. In the foreground, a dark body of water is filled with several boats and a large white ferry. A prominent white cylindrical building with a scalloped facade stands out among other modern high-rise buildings. In the background, a large Ferris wheel is visible against the horizon. The overall scene is a vibrant urban waterfront.

FAQS

Are there any noise restrictions?

Yes – we have a sound limit of 96dB, which your DJ will confirm is plenty loud for a great party atmosphere. If the bi-fold doors are open during your event, they will be closed at 10:00pm to assist with noise management. Balcony access remains available.

What AV is available?

All rooms come equipped with a built-in sound system and a wireless microphone. We also offer 85” screens for hire and have additional custom lighting options available. For a full overview, please refer to the venue’s asset list.
