

The image shows the interior of a bar named Bodriggy. The space is characterized by a high ceiling with exposed wooden beams and large skylights. Green vines are draped over the ceiling and walls, adding a natural, rustic feel. The bar area is well-stocked with various bottles of alcohol. A menu board is visible in the background, listing different drink categories. Patrons are seated at tables and the bar, creating a lively atmosphere. The lighting is warm and focused on the bar area.

Black metal chairs with curved backs are tucked under the tables. The walls are covered in vertical wood paneling. Several small framed pictures are hung on the wall, and two pairs of wall sconces provide warm lighting. On the left, a staircase with a metal railing leads up.
