/ MORE INFORMATION

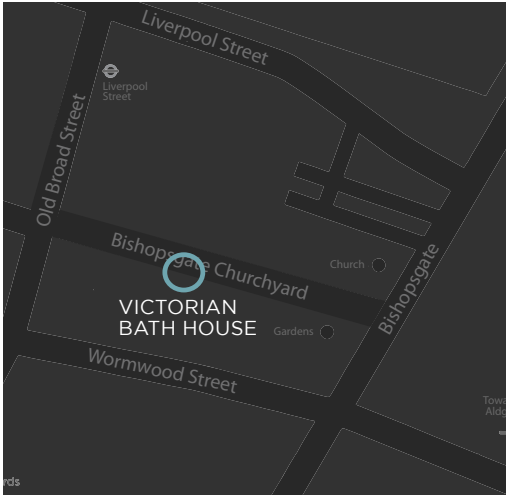

Turkish baths have sat in Bishopsgate’s Churchyard for two centuries. The new Bath House first saw the light of day in 1895. Designed by G Harold Elphick, this new bath-house used tessellating Arabic motifs in classic colours.

Crafted to appeal to the city gent, the venue was an instant hit in the daily broadsheets. Marble-floored hot rooms, mosaics and even gilt-edged décor set the bath-house interior apart, with stained glass and rich oriental rugs finishing the picture.

With a number of various utility rooms offering shampooing and steaming, any patron would emerge from its confines groomed to perfection.
