MEDAL.

— :: O :: —

Feis Doire Colmcille,

— :: O :: —

THE design of the Feis Medal is the work of Mother Clement Hogan, Loretto Convent, Rathfarnham, a daughter of the eminent Irish sculptor, the late Mr. John Hogan. It is a Celtic Cross, a symbol of our country's suffering.

FRONT OF MEDAL.

On the front, in a centre oval panel, is a landscape typical of Ireland, of mountain, field, and water—a round tower reaching heavenwards in mute appeal appears in the foreground, whilst over the mountain top the rays of the rising sun burst forth in splendour, dispelling the clouds of darkness and gloom, and sending in their stead a bright message of hope, peace, and gladness o'er water and land. A ring—symbol of eternity—encircles this panel. On the foreground of panel appears an Irish harp—emblem of our country and of music—this harp partly frames the panel picture, symbolically overshadowing the entire scene. Radiating from centre, and along each arm of cross, is a scheme of Celtic interlaced tracery, and at end of each arm of cross are found the oakleaves of Doire Colmcille. The circle of cross bears the inscription:—Feis Doire Colmcille.

REVERSE SIDE OF MEDAL.

On left, at extreme end of arm of cross, is shown a dove—symbolic of St. Colmcille—whilst opposite, on extreme right, a harp appears; also an open book—symbolic of learning. On extreme base of perpendicular arm is an Irish tower, with a vista of hill and valley showing in distance. Festooned on the circle of cross is the shamrock—emblem of St. Patrick and of our land. The centre of reverse side of medal is reserved for inscriptions. Framing the space and extending far out into arms of cross winds a chain—shown by Celtic circular interlacing, which chain is broken asunder, on upper part of perpendicular arm of cross by a church triumphantly crowning all—emblematic of Faith and Colmcille. The medal is thus designed to stand at once for music and learning—Doire and Erin—Colmcille and God.

AWARD OF MEDAL.

The Medal is struck in Gold, Silver (Gold Centre), Silver and Bronze. The Gold Medal will be known as "The Feis Doire Colmcille Gold Medal," and will be awarded only in case of special excellence in any subject.

The other Medals will be the ordinary Medals awarded at the Feis as 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Prizes, except in the case of Duets, Trios, and Quartettes, which will be Silver and Bronze.

Choirs, Bands, and Reels will be otherwise provided for by the Committee.

N.B.—IRISH COSTUMES, AS FAR AS POSSIBLE, ARE TO BE WORN AT THE FEIS AND AT ALL ITS FUNCTIONS. FAILING SUCH, HOWEVER, THE NEAREST AND BECOMING APPROACH TO SAME IS EXPECTED OF ALL COMPETITORS.

THE PUBLIC, ON THESE OCCASIONS, DEMAND

SUCH.
