

NEED ANALYSIS

- In Afghanistan according to projections of the caseloads there would be 800,000 people in need of shelter and NFI assistance in 2016. These caseloads are forecasted from the conflict induced, natural disasters affected and refugees/returnees people in all the provinces.

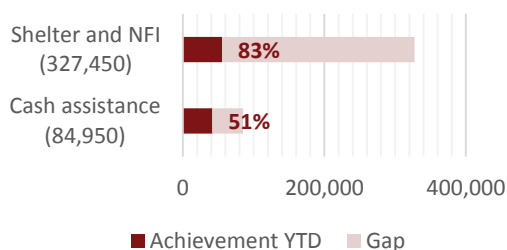

RESPONSE

- Emergency shelter/NFI cluster is targeting 700,000 people that are projected to be affected with different assistance packages, the majority of which is through goods in kind and cash grants where appropriate.
- The breakdown of projections is 49% of the affected population would be the female and 51% would be males in the following categories of children (57%), adult (38%) and elderly (5%).
- During the first quarter of 2016, 55,405 individuals were assisted with shelter and NFI materials and 41,566 individuals assisted through cash assistance programs.

GAPS / CHALLENGES

- There is a significant gap in funding resources to fulfill the current and expected shelter and NFI needs in Afghanistan. This includes existing stock shortages in almost all regions.
- Afghanistan is a country prone to natural disasters as well as a prolonged conflicts that have occurred over a number of decades. The fragile security situation is worsening with progressive withdrawal of armed forces that have supported the Afghanistan Government.
- A lack of effective or structured humanitarian coordination mechanisms without an overview of the structures in place being communicated or well understood remain an ongoing challenge for all clusters and partners.
- Lack of cohesive cross cluster contingency planning.
