Accessible Tourism Guide

LISBON
FOR ALL
Dear Visitor,

As we stand for Lisbon to be enjoyed by everyone, regardless of age, nationality, social status, belief, ethnicity or mobility conditions, it is our goal to support our visitors with the best possible information, having in consideration the needs of each person.

It is then our pleasure to partner in this initiative and with this guide, to present to those who are visiting us – or intend to visit us – a set of offers in our city that are adapted to welcome people who require certain accessibility conditions and, equally, to promote the best enjoyment of our Lisbon, which is also yours.

A Friendly City

Lisbon is a welcoming city. We know how to look after our visitors, but we want to be even better at it. We want to make sure everyone has the chance to fall in love with our city.

Providing for visitors with reduced mobility (because they bring young children or because they are of a certain age or in a wheelchair) can be a challenge. But we relish such challenges!

This guide showcases the accessibility of our visitor offer. We see it as a handy tool for both those who are planning a visit and for those who are already here. We hope you will use it to ensure you get the most out of Lisbon.

Lisbon is making a huge effort to become a truly accessible city. We want this guide to take Lisbon one further step along the road to become a city that is user-friendly for all.

Deputy Mayor for Social Rights
Lisbon at a Glance

Lisbon is a historic capital city. Its charm and character really set it apart. Over the last 800 years, a diverse range of cultural influences have blended with modern trends and life styles to create some truly spectacular contrasts.

The Tejo River, which flows right through any visit, beckons us to explore the riverside and port areas. It also draws us to streets that brim with the stories of the people of Lisbon and the events that have shaped the “face” of this city.

Straddling a series of hills, the city offers endless breathtaking views and vistas, all of which are worth stopping for.

Alongside the old city, with its sumptuous architectural and historical heritage, lies a modern city offering a fully revamped range of cultural and leisure opportunities. Take advantage of your visit to explore the city’s exquisite monuments and museums. Take the time to appreciate the sunset from one of its many gardens, viewpoints and terraces. Delve into one of our markets, bursting with colour, freshness and lively spirits. Savour a cuisine that is both exuberant and genuine and then enjoy a moonlit night out that will only end when you want it to. In short, discover the hospitality of a people whose welcome comes from deep down. Welcome to Lisbon!
Overview

In building our accessible tourism offer, we have been careful to check that all the places and facilities mentioned in this guide meet specific minimum requirements.

This is why we have only included those facilities and services who expressed interest in being listed and can guarantee basic accessibility. One of our experts has visited each of these places and conducted an accessibility survey.

Basic accessibility means that a visitor with reduced mobility (e.g. someone in a wheelchair or someone with a pushchair) will be able to (1) enter the building, (2) move around freely inside, (3) make use of the service and (4) have access to a toilet facility that has been adapted for people with reduced mobility.

A small number of sites that are not fully accessible in this sense have been included in the guide because they are major tourist and cultural attractions. These sites have been flagged as not fully accessible.
Practical Advice

Lisbon is making a huge effort to become a truly accessible city. But there is still a long way to go. To help you with some of the difficulties that you might encounter, we would like to point out that:

- Some of the city’s most historic areas have steep streets and narrow uneven pavements. These problems are less of a concern in Belém, Baixa and Parque das Nações.
- Some of the wall-mounted ATM machines may not be within reach. If you are alone, we recommend that you ask a policeman for help or go into a bank or shopping centre.
- To find out about access lifts in metro stations before travelling, you can ring [+351] 213 500 115 or email atendimento@transporteslisboa.pt.
- For your own comfort and safety, we recommend that you plan your journey in advance:
  - You can book the My Way service when you make your flight reservations (more information in the chapter on transport).
  - You should book your accommodation beforehand and check that the hotel is accessible for you. You can ask the hotel to send you photographs of any adapted rooms.
  - You should book tours and private transfers at least 48 hours in advance.
  - It is a good idea to book the tourist attractions you want to visit and find out how accessible they are.
Recommended Pedestrian Routes

We have surveyed pedestrian routes in the city’s three main tourist areas: Parque das Nações, Baixa and Belém.

The routes have been recorded and tested by wheelchair users.

The Green Route is one that you can use on your own. The paving is even and pedestrian crossings are step-free.

On the Orange Route, the paving is uneven and you may find some pedestrian crossings with step. We recommend that you ask someone to help you.
Symbols System

- Steep slope or steps. You may need someone to help you.
- Parking for people with disabilities.
- Uneven paving. May cause discomfort.
- Accommodation with valet parking.
- Some inaccessible areas.
- Prior booking is recommended.
- Accessible café, café terrace or bar.
- Guided tours are available.
- Accessible restaurant.
- Accommodation with a roll in shower in the bathroom.
- Accessible shop.
- Accommodation with a bath in the bathroom.
- Adapted WC.
- Suggestions, tips and useful information.
Belém

Belém is synonymous with history and the Portuguese discoveries. It was from here that the great adventurers set sail to explore the world.

The Mosteiro dos Jerónimos (Jerónimos Monastery) and Torre de Belém (Belém Tower) are both UNESCO World Heritage sites. The imposing architectural of these Manueline-style monuments carries us back to the heyday of the Portuguese Empire. The Praça do Império, with its gardens and fountains, is the perfect place for a walk. Right opposite the square, and altogether more contemporary in nature, is the Centro Cultural de Belém (Belém Cultural Centre). With its exhibitions and cultural events, the centre should also be on your must-see list. Another place that is well worth a visit is the restored Museu dos Coches (Coach Museum), which houses one of the world’s most unique and extensive collections of this historic form of transport. One excellent way to round off your visit would be to indulge in a delicious Pastel de Belém (Belém Pastry), one of the city’s best-known and most popular snacks.
what to see — Belém

This defining piece of Manueline architecture is both a National Monument and a UNESCO World Heritage site.
The church, in the form of a Latin cross, has three naves, flanked by profusely decorated columns that support the unique multi-ribbed dome. The main portal, the south portal by João de Castilho and the Mannerist chancel by Jerónimo de Ruão are all of particular interest.

Lisbon’s Baixa (or downtown) is a lively, irreverent quarter bustling with colour and movement. If you go down to the end of Rua Augusta, with all its shops, restaurants and street artists, you will come to Terreiro do Paço. This most iconic of Lisbon squares has the Tejo as its backdrop.

A visit to the Lisboa Story Centre will bring you up to speed on what has been happening in the Portuguese capital over the last two thousand years. Why not take a riverside break at one of the many outdoor cafés and restaurants that line the square? Praça do Município, which lies to the west of Praça do Comércio (as Terreiro do Paço is now known), is home to the Paços do Concelho (City Hall) building, where Lisbon’s City Council sits. Across the street from this building is the Money Museum. This brand new visitor attraction also houses the only known stretch of the medieval city wall built by King Dinis, now classified as a national monument.

The Parque das Nações (Park of Nations) is Lisbon at its most modern. On the east side of town, contemporary architecture now covers a vast area of urban regeneration. The most notable buildings, the ones everyone wants to see, are the awning of the Pavilhão de Portugal (Portugal Pavilion) and the Gare de Oriente (Oriente Train Station).

The small parks, right on the river, and the famous cable car, make it a great place for a family outing. The Oceanarium, where visitors can get a close-up look at giant manta rays and sharks, is one of the most popular attractions in the city. In the Museum of Knowledge - Living Science, each visitor takes the lead in guiding their own experience.

If you have time, take in a show at the Meo Arena, where countless big-name bands and artists have performed, or at the Lisbon Casino.

Gardens and Lookout Points

One of the best things to do in Lisbon, with the ubiquitous backdrop of the Tejo, is to climb the hills for the spectacular views. Visit the city’s gardens and viewpoints and enjoy some precious moments of restful contemplation.

- Places like this tend to be in the old city, with its steep roads, uneven paving and narrow pavements. We suggest you bring someone with you when you visit these sites;
- Most public transport that runs to these areas has not been adapted for reduced mobility, so you would generally be better off taking private transport right up to the entrances of wherever you are visiting;
- Not all sites have adapted WC.
Jardim da Estrela (Garden)
Located right in the centre of Lisbon, Jardim da Estrela is famous for being the very first English-style park in Portugal.

Opening Hours
Every day: 7 am - 12 midnight

Address
Praça da Estrela · 1200-667 Lisboa
 [+351] 213 974 818

Miradouro das Portas do Sol (Lookout Point)
One of the city’s most popular viewpoints: with the trams trundling by in both directions, the dazzling view out over the Alfama quarter, the São Vicente church and the Tejo River.

Address
Largo das Portas do Sol (Alfama) 1100-411 Lisboa
 [+351] 213 912 600

Miradouro de Santa Catarina (or Adamastor) (Lookout Point)
Not far from the Bairro Alto area and the Tejo River, this viewpoint, a favourite meeting point for young people, is enlivened by street performers and passers-by of all ages and styles. You will also find the gigantic statue of Adamastor here. This monstrous figure, which symbolises the Cape of Good Hope, sprang from the imagination of Camões onto the pages of his epic work “Os Lusíadas”.

Address
Rua de Santa Catarina 1200-403 Lisboa
 [+351] 213 027 700

If you want to visit this viewpoint, we suggest you take a taxi, once this lookout point is located in a restricted access area.
Jardim do Cerco da Graça (Garden)
This garden, one of the city’s newest green spaces, lies on the slope under Graça Convent and covers an area of 1.7 hectares.

Address
Calçada do Monte, Graça

Miradouro de São Pedro de Alcântara (Lookout Point)
This viewpoint, which is near the Bairro Alto area, offers one of the most exquisitely beautiful panoramic views of Lisbon, with the blue of the Tejo River, the green of the Eduardo VII Park and the magnificent St. Jorge’s Castle.

Address
Rua de São Pedro de Alcântara, Lisboa
[+351] 213 912 600
daev@cm-lisboa.pt

The easiest and safest place to access the viewpoint is from right in front of the central fountain, where the path is accessible.

Miradouro do Chão do Loureiro (Lookout Point)
On the slope below St. Jorge’s Castle one more ‘balcony’ onto the Tejo has been opened on top of the building that once housed the Chão do Loureiro Market but is now a multifunctional car park. Make the most of your visit by taking a look at the urban art galleries that have been set up inside the car park itself.

Address
Calçada Marquês de Tancos

This viewpoint can be accessed via the Castle Elevator (in Rua dos Fanqueiros). This will take you up to Rua da Madalena / Largo Adelino Amaro da Costa, from where you can take the Mercado do Chão do Loureiro elevator up to the viewpoint on the seventh floor. The elevators operate from 9 am to 9 pm.
Museums

Ramble through Lisbon's History between the ancient and the contemporary, visiting some of its main museums.

Its centenary legacy turns Portugal’s Capital in a privileged site for those who appreciate artistic collections and historical pieces. Here you can find real and beautiful treasures that compose the majority of museums’ collections.
Oriente Museum
The museum exhibits Portuguese and Asian art that illustrates the various ways in which West and East have met throughout history. The permanent and temporary exhibitions, the manifestations of the Portuguese presence in the East and the richness of traditional Western art have combined to make the museum a leading light in the expression of Portuguese culture.

National Tile Museum

Housed in the former Madre de Deus Convent, the museum’s permanent exhibition documents the history of the tile in Portugal, from the second half of the 15th Century through to modern times. It shows that the tile definitely lives on as a way of expressing Portuguese cultural identity. You won’t easily forget a visit to the convent, thanks to the church’s exquisite gilding and paintings, the remarkable 18th Century crib, the choir stalls, the cloisters and the gardens, all glittering with tiles.

The proximity to the sea offers the Portuguese gastronomy fish and shellfish dishes – real table pleasures, rituals shared by family and friends.

You will find, for sure, the best of the Mediterranean Cuisine (bread, olive oil, cheese, traditional sausages and a great variety of snacks) in a wide range of restaurants, from the most typical and traditional to the most sophisticated and international ones.

In June, when commemorating Santos Populares festivities, sardine is the queen. During summer, grilled sardines is a must-try dish in a typical restaurant or outdoor seating followed by roasted peppers, seasoned with national olive oil.

Codfish can be cooked in a “1001” ways, all of them irresistible. The overwhelming smell of roasted chestnuts sold along the streets surprises anyone who passes by, in the autumn. You shall not forget our sweets and pastries, where protagonists are Pastéis de Belém (custard tarts).

Transportation

Accessibility is not uniform across our transport network and you may encounter differences between the various means of transport and stages of your journey.

There are no price discounts for people with reduced mobility on our public transport systems. Scooters may, or may not, be allowed on the various types of public transport. It is better to check first. The trams and the elevators that connect various levels of the city (the Glória, Bica and Lavra elevators) have not yet been adapted.
Getting to Lisbon

Lisbon International Airport

Lisbon's airport is both modern and accessible. All areas have ramps or mechanical means of ensuring that all visitors can access all the public areas inside the airport.

Outside the airport, accessibility depends on where you are. The arrivals area is more modern and accessible than the departures area. Access to those car parks that are not inside the airport building is somewhat restricted. However, there is a car park in a parking space reserved for persons with disabilities in the arrivals area. From here, access to the departures hall is straightforward.

At the departures section, there is a car park in a parking space reserved for persons with disabilities as well. The shuttle service between Terminal 1 and Terminal 2 is provided by buses that are accessible to anyone in a wheelchair.

If flying into, or out of, Lisbon, you should inform your airline or travel agent of any assistance you might require as a reduced mobility passenger.

All Portuguese airports offer the MyWay service for passengers that require assistance while travelling through the airports. This service is free and is provided by specially trained staff. Full information on the service can be obtained from the ANA Aeroportos de Portugal website. You may travel on from the airport by bus, airbus, metro or taxi.

Carristur operates two bus (Aerobus) shuttle routes from Lisbon International Airport. These routes are called City Center (Cais do Sodré) and Financial Center (Av. José Malhoa - next to Praça de Espanha).

Getting to Lisbon

Santa Apolónia and Oriente Stations

Santa Apolónia Station is one of the oldest train stations in Lisbon, providing this service since 1865. It is a terminal station for almost all the rail services heading to Lisbon. There are three accessible access spots: main entrance (forefront), side Metro entrance and side suburban/supermarket entrance. There are car parks with places reserved for people with reduced mobility in the surrounding areas. It is possible to use bus or Metro, from this station as well as taxis. Oriente Station is the biggest transport interface in Lisbon, working since 1998. It is a modern station in which all accesses are accessible despite its paving is somewhat irregular. Lifts are circular which hampers reaching its buttons, although it is possible to use it. There are 5 floors, all of these accessible through an elevator. There is a car park with reserved places for reduced mobility people in the station. You are able to travel by urban, suburban and international bus, using Metro or a taxi from this station.

In case you travel from Portugal, we recommend you use the Alfa Pendular service once it is easier to access. Intercity, InterRegional and Regional trains are partially accessible. You are advised to confirm if the departure and destiny stations allow the shipment/landing with the SIM (Integrated Mobility Service). International trains are not accessible.

When planning your journey, you should contact CP - Comboios de Portugal, for further information about the easiest way to access the train.

Public Transport

Lisbon’s metro network is partially accessible, particularly at the major points of interest in the city. Access to most stations is by elevator. Stair lifts have been installed at some stations. There is a vertical gap (of approximately 10cm) and a horizontal gap (of approximately 8cm) between platforms and metro carriages. We recommend you require assistance when boarding the metro.

The vertical offset, combined with the platform stations, results in some loss of traction. There are no reserved places for wheelchair users inside metro carriages.

For information on the status of the elevators / stair lifts call:
Metropolitano de Lisboa

Metropolitano (Lisbon Metro)
Trains (CP)

Most Lisbon suburban trains are mostly accessible, although there are a few limitations. CP – Comboios de Portugal offers an Integrated Mobility Service (IMS) for passengers with special travel needs. Through this service, you can obtain information on station and train accessibility and also request specific assistance for your journey, should you require it.

Trains can be accessed via the onboard ramps that the conductor will slide into place. There are two types of ramp: fixed and removable. In either case, the conductor’s assistance will be needed.

Trains on the Cascais Line can be accessed via raised platforms placed on the station platforms. These are lined up with the trains (although this alignment may not be 100% perfect).

Not all stations have such platforms, although there are stations at which passengers can embark and disembark via removable ramps. For further information on this, contact the station ticket office or SIM.

At Oriente, platforms are lower than the other ones which requires the use of removable platforms in order to be able to get on and off the train.

Due to the height difference, there is a moderately higher slope compared to other stations when using removable ramps. Revisers will always be prepared to help in case you need to.

Bus (Carris)

Carris is the company that operates the buses and trams in Lisbon. Some buses in its fleet can be accessed via manual or electric ramps that will take a person in a wheelchair. These accessible buses are marked by an icon comprising a white image of a person in a wheelchair over a blue background. These labels are displayed at both front and back of the bus. You can ask the driver directly, or you can push the blue button near the back or middle doors of the bus. This will activate the ramp.

For further information:
Carris

Fare system

You pay your fares through a card onto which your journey tickets have been loaded. Cards are debited for each single journey, so you need to swipe your Viva Viagem card at the machines in the station or on the vehicle.

There are four different ways you can use your Viva Viagem card:

- Single ticket
  Use this option to buy the journeys you need from a single operator. Each time you travel, you should swipe the card at the validating machines.
  You can use both Carris (bus) and Metro de Lisboa services on the same journey. However, if you travel by Metro the journey runs out in the moment you leave the station.
• 24-hour ticket
  This is often the best option for tourists who are going to make several journeys on one means of transport during the day. The 24-hour ticket allows you to use the transport services provided by a specific company as many times as you want to. The 24-hour period starts when you first swipe the card.

• Pre-paid tickets
  Use this option if you want to purchase tickets in batches of 5 or 10 journeys. Usually, you are supposed to get a discount for buying in bulk. You must swipe the card each time you travel.

• Zapping
  You can load your Viva Viagem card with money instead of journeys, which allows you to use different operators. Each time you swipe your card, a fixed amount will be deducted from the card balance, until it reaches zero.

Buying a Viva Viagem card

You can buy your Viva Viagem card, loaded with the journeys you need, from an automatic machine, at the ticket office or at the operator’s designated service points. The card costs €0.50 and is valid for one year.

Restrictions

- You cannot load different types of ticket onto the same card.
- The automatic vending machines have not been specifically adapted for wheelchair users.
- Not all ticket offices or operator service points are accessible.
- Amounts/tickets loaded onto the cards or unused tickets will not be reimbursed.
- After the one-year expiry date, you won’t be able to recharge new journeys or money on your Viva Viagem card but you can use the journeys or money which remain on it.
- This card is not valid for travel on tourist or Aerobus services.
Tourist Transport

Perhaps one of the best ways to get to know the city is to hop onto a tourist bus. These buses pass by all the major landmarks and passengers can use the audio guides to find out about the city’s history and monuments.

City Sightseeing Lisboa
This company runs two hop-on hop-off routes, one red and the other blue. All the buses are accessible. You can enter/leave the bus via fixed, manual or electric ramps as well as the removable ramps that the driver can deploy. Each bus has a wheelchair space that is also equipped with an audio guide selector. You can buy 24-hour tickets for City Sightseeing Lisboa buses. These tickets are valid for both lines and you can get on and off the buses as many times as you desire. If you buy your tickets online, you may get a discount or other benefits.

Carristur – Yellow Bus
Carristur operates three lines: the Belém Tour, the Olisipo Tour and the Tagus Tour. All buses are accessible to reduced mobility passengers. You can enter/leave the bus via fixed, manual or electric ramps that are operated by the driver. Each bus has a wheelchair space that is also equipped with an audio guide selector. You can buy 24-hour tickets for each Carristur tour. You can get on and off the buses as many times as you like. Alternatively, you can buy 48-hour tickets that offer unlimited travel on two or more tours. If you buy your tickets online, you may get a discount or other benefits.

Cityrama – Grayline

This operator runs accessible buses on all three of its lines: the Belém and Cascais line, the Belém and Oriente line and the Belém, Cascais and Oriente line. You can enter/leave the bus via fixed, manual or electric ramps that are operated by the driver. Each bus has a wheelchair space that is also equipped with an audio guide selector. You can buy 48-hour tickets for each Cityrama line which allows you to get on and off the buses as many times as you want to. Alternatively, you can buy 48-hour Freepass tickets that offer unlimited travel on all three lines. The company’s website details further offers, in which you can combine selected experiences with your Cityrama bus tickets.

Private Transport

Taxis
A number of taxis have been adapted for reduced mobility passengers. However, it may occasionally prove difficult to book these taxis. There is also no guarantee that you will find an adapted taxi at any given taxi rank.

The best way to make use of this service is by ringing the taxi company’s central office and requesting a reduced mobility adapted taxi for the address that you are currently at.

Sintra

Sintra, classified by UNESCO as a Cultural Landscape and World Heritage site in 1995, has inspired artists and poets throughout its long history.

The majestically imposing mansions and palaces blend into the lushly fresh countryside, to imbue Sintra in a mysterious, magical and romantic atmosphere.

Sintra, which is not at all far from Lisbon, is a town awash with mysticism, nature and heritage and is a must-see destination for anyone visiting Lisbon.

Given that access to art and culture is a basic right we all should enjoy, Parques de Sintra – Monte da Lua has made every effort to ensure that the cultural and natural heritage sites that it manages are as inclusive and accessible as possible.
Pena National Palace and Park

The product of the creative genius of King Fernando II, the palace and park, which epitomize the height of 19th Century Romanticism in Portugal, are a mix of Manueline and Moorish architecture. The palace was built so that it could be seen from any point in the park, forest or luxuriant gardens, with their five hundred plus species of trees from around the world. The Chalet of the Countess of Edla reveals another side of Fernando’s romanticism. This is an altogether more private place, closer to nature.

Opening Hours

Every day:
High Season: Park 9.30 am - 8 pm / Palace 9.45 am - 7 pm / Terraces 9.45 am - 7.45 pm / Chalet and Gardens of the Countess of Edla: 9.30 am - 7 pm
Low Season: Park / Palace / Terraces / Chalet and Gardens of the Countess of Edla: 10 am - 6 pm

We recommend that you make use of the Swisstrac power unit (which you can book) or the accessible bus.
Castle of the Moors
Perched on a Sintra mountain peak and overlooking the town, this fortification was built in the 10th Century, in the wake of the Muslim conquest of the Iberian Peninsula. Two concentric walls snake erratically around the granite blocks that dot the mountain. A walk along these walls offers stunning views of the town, Sintra Palace, Pena Palace, the mountains and the Atlantic Ocean.

Monserrate Park and Palace
Close to the historic centre are two of the most beautiful architectural and landscaped creations produced by Portuguese Romanticism, quintessential embodiments of the eclecticism of the 19th Century. The palace is a melting pot of Gothic, Indian and Moorish influences, interspersed with exotic and vegetalist motifs. The gardens are packed with species shipped in from all over the world and organised into geographical areas.

Sintra National Palace

The millennium-old story of the Sintra Town Palace harks back to a time when Muslims completely dominated the Iberian Peninsula. The Moorish influences on the craftsmen who built and embellished the palace can be clearly seen in the vertical layout of the spaces, adapted to the nature of the terrain; the intimate organisation of the interior courtyards; the windows with their surmounted arches and the walls covered in glazed tiles with rich geometrical patterns.

Opening Hours
Every day:
High Season: 9.30 am - 7 pm
Low Season: 9 am - 6 pm

Address

The most accessible way into the palace is via the kitchen entrance. We recommend that you book your visit in advance, so that the removable ramps can be put in place.
Queluz National Palace

The palace and its historic gardens are a noteworthy example of the way in which landscaping and palace architecture have been harmoniously intertwined in Portugal. The baroque, rococo and neoclassical features shaped the surroundings in which the royal family lived in the second half of the 18th Century and the early part of the 19th Century.

Cascais

Cascais is a 20-minute drive outside Lisbon. It lies on Portugal’s Atlantic coast and is about as far west in Europe as you can get.

A welcoming and somewhat surprising destination that offers a heady blend of glamour, tranquillity and nature. Beaches, leisure opportunities, shops and lifestyle are all to be found along the ‘line’ out to Cascais. This reinvented fishing village is actually an upmarket seaside resort, famed for its restaurants, culture and shopping as well as its historic centre.
Paula Rego, who lives in London, is known throughout the world as one of Portugal’s leading artists. In 2006, she decided to build “her” House of Stories in Cascais. The building was designed by the architect Eduardo Souto de Moura. The collection includes a significant number of her painted and drawn works and some of those of her artist and art critic husband, Victor Willing, who died in 1988.

Museum of the Sea – King Carlos

This museum explores the close relationship that Cascais has with the sea, navigation and fishing. The various sections (Natural History, Ethnology and Underwater Archaeology) offer a broad variety of marine-related exhibits: old maps, fishermen’s clothing, models of boats and some of the treasures recovered from vessels shipwrecked off the Portuguese coast and in the Tejo estuary.

Town Museum

This museum covers the history of the town and wider municipality from the Neolithic through to the early 20th Century.

In the collection, there are iconic pieces from Cascais’ past that help tell the story of the main events in the region. Exhibits include the town’s coat of arms and Cascais’ charter, drawn up in 1514 by King Manuel I and recently restored by the local council.

Accessible Beaches* on the Cascais Line

During the summer season, the marked areas on this beach are supervised by lifeguards. The beach also has an amphibious chair (known as the Tiralô) and a first aid / medical post. The Cascais promenade is fully accessible all the way from Cascais to S. João do Estoril.

Carcavelos Beach
The beach can be accessed from the train station on Av. Jorge V. You should bear in mind, however, that the ramp inside the tunnel that leads to the promenade is fairly steep and you will likely need assistance going up and down.

S. João/ Poça Beach
You can get to this beach by car (there are reserved parking spots for those with reduced mobility) or on foot, via the promenade, if coming from Cascais.

Estoril/Tamariz Beach
You can access this beach from the CP (Comboios de Portugal) train station (via the ramp to the east or the platform lift to the west) or by car or from the promenade, if coming from Cascais.

Duquesa/Conceição Beach
You can access this beach from the CP (Comboios de Portugal) train station but we recommend that you require assistance to get up and down the ramp at the station exit.
