Christmas Concert
Giacomo Puccini – Messa di Gloria

The work with the apocryphal name ‘Messa di Gloria’, composed for orchestra, four-part choir and soloists, will be presented in a concert on the day before Christmas Eve. Giacomo Puccini’s mass will be performed by tenor Luis Gomes and baritone André Baleiro, accompanied by the Coro do Teatro Nacional de São Carlos (São Carlos National Theatre Choir) and by the Orquestra Sinfónica Portuguesa (Portuguese Symphony Orchestra), under the musical direction of Antonio Piroli and the baton of maestro Giampaolo Vessella. Created as a graduation exercise from the Instituto Musicale Luigi Boccherini, some of the parts of this work were conceived as self-contained compositions. Other parts were also reused in the first operas, like Manon Lescaut or Edgar.

Useful Information

Lisboa is the capital of Portugal and the country's biggest city, located on the estuary of the Tejo river, on the European Atlantic coast. It is continental Europe's westernmost capital. Portugal's official language is Portuguese. Derived from Latin roots, Portuguese is the third most spoken European language in the world, with around 200 million speakers. Around 3 million people live in the Lisboa region, with around 600 thousand living in the capital itself. The Portuguese Constitution allows religious freedom, with various religions being practised in Portugal.

Electric voltage: 230 / 400 volts, on a 50-hertz frequency. The electric sockets adhere to European standards. Blade plugs (US standard) must be used in conjunction with a 230 volts transformer, as well as an adaptor.

In Lisboa winters are mild and summers hot, though moderated by its location near the sea. During spring and autumn there are usually sunny days with mild temperatures.

Local currency and Payments

The Euro is Portugal's official currency, having been introduced in January 2002. 1 Euro is divided into 100 cents. There are coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cents and 1 and 2 Euros. The bills can be distinguished by their size and colour and have the following face values: 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 and 500 Euros. In Portugal, payments can be made in cash, bank transfer, cheque, credit cards and debit cards.

The song of Lisboa and the World

INTANGIBLE HERITAGE OF HUMANITY

Fado
The song of Lisboa and the World

Classified as Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO since November 2011, Fado is the purest expression of Lisboa's "soul". Much more than just a song, Fado is a musical manifestation of feeling Portuguese and a city's way of life, always accompanied by the solemn and melancholy chords of the Portuguese guitar.

Considered a brand inseparable from the culture and tradition of the Portuguese capital, Fado has been for at least two centuries, part of the city's heritage that endowed it with soul and voice. But since influences from overseas, and from various cultures which arrived in Lisboa can also be heard in Fado, Lisboa's song is now deservedly a shared heritage with the world. Inspired from a simple and sentimental language, Fado's universal character surpasses all barriers and is now enjoyed by millions of fans worldwide. This internationalization of Fado is greatly due to the charisma and the voice of Amália Rodrigues, the most renowned fado singer of all time, who from the 1950's took Lisboa's song to the most prestigious venues, from Russia to Japan. More recently, a new generation of singers of this genre has given the song a new vitality, placing it in the circuits of World Music.

The ultimate international recognition of Fado comes with UNESCO's highest recognition, whose award of the Intangible Heritage of Humanity title makes this a perfect example of how a centuries-old tradition of a city becomes the identity symbol of a people. Therefore, whenever the lights are dimmed in a fado house and someone says "Silence, Fado is about to be sung", this is not just a ritual that is being performed. It is, as Amália Rodrigues would say, "a strange form of life" that is being renewed.
Fado Houses

Here visitors can experience the whole atmosphere and rituals associated with Lisboa’s song and listen to this language of emotions. Set in the historic districts of the city such as Alfama, Bairro Alto, Lapa and Alcântara, there are diverse establishments which host regular performances of fado, with resident artists.

Georges Garcia’s choreographic version, which was premiered in 1987, goes on stage again in Teatro Nacional de São Carlos, accompanied by the Orquestra Sinfónica Portuguesa (Portuguese Symphony Orchestra). ‘Giselle’ is a story of love and betrayal, in which a peasant girl is driven to madness and death after feeling betrayed by count Albrecht, who disguises himself as a peasant and convinces her that his promises of eternal love are true. The young girl is buried in the woods and becomes a Wili, a ghost which attracts men and makes them dance until they die from exhaustion. After her death, Hilarion, a peasant who is in love with Giselle, comes to mourn at her grave. The queen of the Wilis orders Giselle to attract Hilarion to dance. Giselle dances with Hilarion all night long and helps him stay alive until sunrise. At sunrise, Giselle returns to her grave and Hilarion stays alone, destroyed by pain.

Gipsy Kings

2nd December, at 10 pm, Altice Arena; Parque das Nações (metro: Oriente | buses: 26B, 208, 210, 705, 708, 725, 728, 744, 759, 782 | train: Oriente). Tickets: from 30 to 45 euros. More information at: arena.altice.pt

Gipsy Kings are the mythical French band formed in Arles and Montpellier by Andrea Reyes. With over 30 years of hits and 60 million sold records, the band, which is best known for the hit 'Bamboleo', will fill the Tejo Hall of the Altice Arena with its calling card: the rhythm of flamenco rumba, a musical style which is a variant from the traditional flamenco. Thus, the audience will have the opportunity to revisit songs like 'Djobi Djoba', 'Volare', 'Baila Me' or 'Sin Ella'.

Matias Damásio

10th December, at 9 pm; Campo Pequeno (metro: Campo Pequeno). Tickets: from 25 to 125 euros. More information at: campopequeno.pt

The Angolan music and composer, who is popularly known for his romantic style, prepared a memorable concert. Matias Damásio has been consolidating his career since 2015 and he is already one of the most successful artists in Portugal. Today singles like ‘O Nosso Beijo’ and ‘Como Antes’ have become radio hits, are in the top charts of the main streaming platforms and reach more than 11 million views on YouTube.
Tiago Bettencourt starts the celebration of his 20-year career with a show in Lisboa accompanied by the Orquestra Clássica do Centro. Keeping up the tradition of his 360-degree concerts, he adds the difficult task of summing up two decades of work in one single night. The Portuguese artist says that performing in the Coliseu has been one of the greatest pleasures in his career and promises to bring the biggest hits for a memorable night.
The Cinematic Orchestra

13th December, at 9 pm; Coliseu de Lisboa, Rua das Portas de Santo Antão, 96 (metro: Restauradores). Tickets: from 25 to 35 euros. More information at: coliseulisboa.com

The wait is over. The Cinematic Orchestra is back in Lisboa after some years of absence. This concert will be one of the first after the leader of the band made Portugal his new home. More than revisiting the biggest hits of the band, the concert will bring novelties, such as the new songs from the fourth album of originals and also a new visual spectacle in charge of Ben Olsen.

Hollywood Symphony Orchestra

29th December, at 9:30 pm; Coliseu de Lisboa, Rua das Portas de Santo Antão, 96 (metro: Restauradores). Tickets: from 17 to 34 euros. More information at: coliseulisboa.com

Aimed at cinephiles, fans of the seventh art and music lovers in general, the Hollywood Symphony Orchestra presents a concert which promises to make the audience travel through memories and recover immortal melodies which helped some of the most popular and award-winning films in cinema history to stand out. Composed by 75 musicians and currently directed by John Scott, it presents live symphonic music of older or more recent films, giving the audience a glimpse of the history of cinema music and an insight into the composers’ works.
The biggest pop culture festival is back. The cinema, television, comics, literature, cosplay, anime, manga, videogames, music and YouTube fans can get ready for four immersive days with activities, games and the possibility of collecting autographs and taking pictures with some of the national and international talents present at the event. It will also be possible to visit the Geek Market, where the artists exhibit and sell unique and collectible products, such as items of clothing or books; walk through the auditoriums to listen to stories or put questions to personalities from cinema, series, comics and gaming, as well as witness releases, experiment novelties in the console or computer games area and participate in contests.
Chou Ching-hui is a storyteller who is inspired by zoos. The artist builds visual narratives through his lens and tries to create emotions in the spectator with the intent of making him look for connections to his own experience. 'Animal Farm' is the result of big productions in the zoos of Hsinchu and Shousha and intends to establish a parallel between a cage in the zoo and contemporary life, which can also be a cage. This work resulted in surrealistic and theatrical pictures and videos, like for example a family sitting at a table behind an electrical fence or children playing under the watchful eye of a leopard.

Until 11th December, from Tuesday to Thursday and weekends, from 10 am to 6 pm, Friday from 10 am to 8 pm; Museu do Oriente, Av. The Roaring ‘20s in Lisboa

Until 11th December, from Tuesday to Sunday, from 10 am to 6 pm, last entry at 5:30 pm; Palácio Pimenta, Museu de Lisboa, Campo Grande (metro: Campo Grande | buses: 701, 717, 735, 736, 738, 747, 750, 755, 767, 778, 783, 796, 798). Tickets: 3 euros. More information at: museudelisboa.pt

The Museu de Lisboa presents a retrospective of last century's 20s in the exhibition ‘The Roaring ’20s in Lisboa’. Even today, the decade of 1920 is still remembered as a period of transformation in customs and mentalities. Lisboa was not excluded from this movement: modernity, social and individual affirmation were also experienced in the Portuguese capital. In spite of the political and economic instability of the time, Lisboa followed some trends, spreading the novelties and extravagances which arrived through the press, literature, radio and cinema. Thus, this exhibition transports us to that same time period through personal stories and experiences.

Cyberart
Works from the Itaú Cultural Collection

Until 12th December, from Wednesday to Monday, from 11 am to 7 pm; MAAT – Museu de Arte, Arquitetura e Tecnologia, Av. Brasília (train: Cascais line, Belém station | buses: 728, 714, 727, 729, 751 | tram: 15). Tickets: general, 7 euros; seniors, 6 euros. More information at: maat.pt

Cyberart is an exhibition which mirrors the relationship between technology, culture and art, which is the focus of the work done by Instituto Itaú Cultural. With the objective of bringing this form of artistic expression to the most diverse audiences, the itineraries of the Art and Technology Collection present a series of works which connect cybernetics to the visitors and to elements of the works themselves. In this exhibition, the audience is invited to reflect on a more poetic and less experimental view of this technological area.
Christmas in Lisboa

Every time of the year is a good time to visit Lisboa. December is no exception, for many reasons and because the last month of the year is a particularly illuminated period. Around this time, the Christmas spirit invades the capital. It is mainly at night that it becomes more obvious, with the streets, the squares and the buildings everywhere full of lights, colours and bright shapes and greeting the passers-by with the atmosphere the season provides. The streets are filled with colourful balls, stars and bows and several façades exhibit their decorations. The store windows also become more exuberant, in a contest to show which one is the most creative of all. Not to mention the traditional Christmas trees.
The magic of walking through the streets of Lisboa during this time of the year is enhanced by indispensable details on the itinerary, such as a visit to the animations and the little Christmas markets. Differently from other European capitals, there are small points of sale spread throughout all of Lisboa. There are markets from Alvalade to Belém, passing through Rossio. But they also exist in Almada, Sintra and Cascais. They promise entertainment and fun, side by side with an invitation to discover the national handicraft and to try traditional gastronomic specialities as well as seasonal delicacies.

The recreational activities dedicated to Christmas are also unmissable. For kids and adults, there are artificial ice-skating rinks, decorated tourist trains running through the main streets of Lisboa, small decorated villages with visits to Santa Claus, parades and concerts. With this many activities, it is easy to work up an appetite and during the Christmas season there are traditional recipes to which no one remains indifferent. In Lisboa, the most popular dish on Christmas Eve, 24th December, is the ‘bacalhau com todos’ (‘codfish with everything’), which means cooked codfish with vegetables and potatoes. The tradition was upheld until today due to the influence of the catholic church. Besides the religious practices, one of the main traditions in Lisboa is having roasted stuffed turkey for lunch on Christmas day. This dish became popular before the 16th century, in a time when these birds filled the streets and were sold for Christmas Eve.

The traditional dishes of the season are joined by the desserts to round off the meal. Coscorões, azevias, sonhos, aletria, arroz doce, fatias douradas... (all traditional Portuguese desserts). The proposals are many but the highlight goes to the bolo rei (King’s cake). Shaped like a crown, with Christmas colours, thanks to the candied fruits, and a characteristic flavour, this dessert stands out on the Portuguese tables.

Christmas in Lisboa is experienced like this, with all five senses. Find out for yourself.

Until December 30, Thursdays and Fridays, from 3 pm to 7 pm; weekends and holidays, from 10 am to 7 pm; former EDP building in Almada, Rua Bernardo Francisco da Costa, Almada (boat: Cais do Sodré – Cacilhas and metro: 1, 3). Free entry. More information at: cm-almada.pt

The Portuguese photojournalist, winner of two World Press Photo awards, Mário Cruz, reveals in “Living among what is left behind” the scenario of human survival among the garbage in the Pasig River, without biological life since 1990, in the Philippines. For a month, the photographer followed the lives of thousands of families who make their homes and livelihoods from garbage in a place that was once an economic center, but which is now condemned to be the city’s sewer. The exhibition is made up of large-scale photographs and collages and an installation with tons of rubbish that aims to recreate the scene he observed.

Matéria é Soberana is an exhibition by Isabel Cordovil about the tension between what traps and what frees. The gallery is transformed into a dreary space, the atmosphere is heavy and it feels like everything exerts pressure on the visitor’s body. The exhibition intends to create a setting where different individual projections of the objects gradually reveal themselves. The artist likes to create poetic exhibitions of distinct natures, technical regimes and heterogeneous materials, in order to build an aesthetic which is, often, autobiographically involved.

Miguel Telles da Gama, author of the exhibition ‘Debaixo da Pele’, shows the visitors that, although (almost) everything has already been invented, there are still stories to be told. Thus, he presents a new work, full of fragments from his earlier works. The artist wants to convey the message that there is still much to be said. Starting from the images, the words and the colours, each work randomly brings together fragments of stories which never come to an end, among graphics and pictures or even film images; in these works, fragments are sometimes covered by words or by colour smudges which transform them or give them new meaning.

This showing brings together for the first time a selection of works and prototypes, which range from drawings, to photographs, large-scale installations and objects. EVILUTION

The Portuguese trash art artist, who is known a bit all over the world for his large scale animal sculptures created with all kinds of urban waste, returns to Portugal for a national exhibition. Very concerned about the issues of environmental sustainability and of the negative impact of pollution on nature, Bordalo II creates simple messages to draw attention to this kind of problems, using metal remains, containers, plastic toys, tires, hoses, ropes, marine debris and traffic separators. In EVILUTION, the artist reaches a different level, presenting an exhibition without precedent.
