Christmas Concert
Dixit Dominus by Händel

17th December; at 5 pm; Grande Auditório do Centro Cultural de Belém; Praça do Império
More information at: ccb.pt

The Choir of the São Carlos National Theatre, led by conductor Giampaolo Vessella, together with the Portuguese Symphony Orchestra present Händel’s Dixit Dominus. Composed in nine movements, it presents, as the text demands, diverse musical atmospheres and environments, from the most brilliant exuberance to the most intense drama. It is Händel’s earliest musical autograph and presents the language of the Italian Baroque in all its splendour. The show also features Mozart’s Concerto No. 9 for piano and orchestra, commonly known as Jeunehomme, written at the age of 21 in Salzburg and composed for Victoire Jenamy, daughter of the famous dancer and choreographer Jean-Georges Noverre, whom Mozart had met in Vienna in 1773.
Harlem Gospel Choir

4th December; at 9 pm; Centro Cultural de Belém; Praça do Império (buses: 28, 714, 727, 729, 751 | tram: 15 | train: Cascais line; station: Belém). Tickets: from 25 euros. More information at: ccb.pt

The gospel style is characterised by devotional music that is simultaneously celebratory and these concerts are marked by their exuberance and emotion. The Harlem Gospel Choir, the most famous gospel group in the USA, has performed for or with some of the best-known names in the world, such as Nelson Mandela, Pope John Paul II, Bono, U2 and Gorillaz. They’re back in Portugal for a Christmas tour. Besides the most emblematic gospel songs, this time the concert will also include Whitney Houston’s most iconic songs.
Gulbenkian Choir a cappella

December 12; at 8 pm; Grande Auditório Fundação Calouste Gulbenkian; Av. Berna 45A (metro: Praça de Espanha, São Sebastião | buses: 716, 726, 746, 756). Free entry, upon collection on the day. More information at: gulbenkian.pt

Founded in 1964, the Gulbenkian Choir has 100 singers, and the group can present different symphonic formations through the shows. This Christmas season, the versatile Gulbenkian Choir will perform on stage in a smaller and more intimate formation to perform a cappella pieces. Under the conduction of conductor Martina Batić, works by S. Bach, M. Reger, B. Britten will be presented.
Two Voices, Four Hands
Camané, João Paulo Esteves da Silva, Mário Laginha, Ricardo Ribeiro

The Coliseu de Lisboa will host a single concert bringing together four unique artists. All of them have their own individual and well-defined projects, but here they go on stage for a show presenting two voices and four hands. Camané and Ricardo Ribeiro will be in charge of the microphone, while João Paulo and Mário Laginha will sit at the piano. Much more than the sum of all these artists on stage, the show aims to bring musical originality and a special interaction between the various styles that characterise them. The musicians hope and wish that at the end of this unique concert everyone present will feel that they witnessed something special.

Useful Information

Lisboa is the capital of Portugal and the country’s biggest city, located on the estuary of the Tejo river, on the European Atlantic coast. It is continental Europe’s westernmost capital. Portugal’s official language is Portuguese. Derived from Latin roots, Portuguese is the third most spoken European language in the world, with around 200 million speakers. Around 3 million people live in the Lisboa region, with around 600 thousand living in the capital itself. The Portuguese Constitution allows religious freedom, with various religions being practised in Portugal.

Electric voltage: 230 / 400 volts, on a 50-hertz frequency. The electric sockets adhere to European standards. Blade plugs (US standard) must be used in conjunction with a 230 volts transformer, as well as an adaptor.

In Lisboa winters are mild and summers hot, though moderated by its location near the sea. During spring and autumn there are usually sunny days with mild temperatures.

Local currency and Payments

The Euro is Portugal’s official currency, having been introduced in January 2002. 1 Euro is divided into 100 cents. There are coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cents and 1 and 2 Euros. The bills can be distinguished by their size and colour and have the following face values: 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 and 500 Euros. In Portugal, payments can be made in cash, bank transfer, check, credit cards and debit cards.

Tiago Bettencourt

13th December, at 9 pm; Coliseu de Lisboa; Rua das Portas de Santo Antão, 96 (metro: Restauradores). Tickets: from 20 to 42 euros. More information at: coliseulisboa.com

With the Christmas season approaching, Tiago Bettencourt returns to the stage for a new show. 2023 was a year in which the artist embarked on new experiences of bringing his songs to the public accompanied by local philharmonic orchestras. From north to south, he performed with amateur musicians, experienced philharmonic orchestras, more improvised groups and even children, in many memorable experiences for himself and the audience. Now, at the end of the year, Tiago Bettencourt presents an unconventional concert about what he was, what he is and what he will be, with music as his only pillar, leading the fans through his musical memories and more.

King John

King John, the alter-ego of António Alves, a Portuguese singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist from the Azores, presents his new album ‘Good Son’. The musician rediscovered himself and found a sound closer to what he always wanted for the project. His latest work includes 9 originals, which developed from questions such as ‘Was/am I a good son?’ ‘Will I be a good father?’. Recorded between Ponta Delgada in São Miguel, Azores and Lisboa at HAUS studio, co-produced and mixed by Makoto Yagyu from PAUS and mastered at Abbey Road studios by Frank Arkwright, ‘Good Son’ is performed live in an iconic bar of Lisboa.

Fado

INTANGIBLE HERITAGE OF HUMANITY
The song of Lisboa and the World

Classified as Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO since November 2011, Fado is the purest expression of Lisboa’s “soul”. Much more than just a song, Fado is a musical manifestation of feeling Portuguese and a city’s way of life, always accompanied by the solemn and melancholy chords of the Portuguese guitar.

Considered a brand inseparable from the culture and tradition of the Portuguese capital, Fado has been for at least two centuries, part of the city’s heritage that endowed it with soul and voice. But since influences from overseas, and from various cultures which arrived in Lisboa can also be heard in Fado, Lisboa’s song is now deservedly a shared heritage with the world. Inspired from a simple and sentimental language, Fado’s universal character surpasses all barriers and is now enjoyed by millions of fans worldwide. This internationalization of Fado is greatly due to the charisma and the voice of Amália Rodrigues, the most renowned fado singer of all time, who from the 1950’s took Lisboa’s song to the most prestigious venues, from Russia to Japan. More recently, a new generation of singers of this genre has given the song a new vitality, placing it in the circuits of World Music. The ultimate international recognition of Fado comes with UNESCO’s highest recognition, whose award of the Intangible Heritage of Humanity title makes this a perfect example of how a centuries-old tradition of a city becomes the identity symbol of a people. Therefore, whenever the lights are dimmed in a fado house and someone says “Silence, Fado is about to be sung”, this is not just a ritual that is being performed. It is, as Amália Rodrigues would say, “a strange form of life” that is being renewed.

Immerse yourself in the adventure of watching the oldest show in the world - the circus. The Christmas Circus comes at this time of year to spread magic and joy among children and adults alike. Without animals, but with lots of entertainment and charm, clowns, illusionists, jugglers and acrobats will invade the Coliseu for a journey that will rekindle everyone’s Christmas spirit. ‘Come and dream with us, because the circus is the only place in the world where you can daydream!’ is the invitation from the organisation that has been bringing joy to the Christmas season in Lisboa for 133 years.

The world’s biggest circus company, Cirque Du Soleil, is returning to Lisboa with a show full of magic, colour and rhythm. ‘Ovo’ tells the story of an ecosystem full of insects that work, eat, crawl, play, fight and even fall in love. On an ordinary day, when life flows naturally in this vibrant universe, a strange being disrupts normality: a mysterious egg appears among the insects. The plot develops around the surprise and curiosity about the strange object, leaving room to portray the cycle of life in its most natural order and to address the innocent love between a seductive ladybird and the clumsy insect that hatches from the unusual egg.

The Association is led by Edgar Allan Poe, who is extremely jealous of Pessoa’s popularity. Born in 2017 from the dream of the famous solo dancer Victor Ishchuk of the Kiev Opera Theatre, the Kiev Ballet today represents the values of overcoming and resilience of the Ukrainian spirit. With care and delicacy, this company of dancers goes on stage to present the most famous ballet in the world: Swan Lake - the story of an impossible love between Prince Siegfried and Odette, a young woman transformed into a swan by the sorcerer Von Rothbart. With choreography by Marius Petipa and to the sound of Piotr Tchaikovsky’s iconic melodies, love, betrayal and the triumph of good over evil come together on stage in a work that demands dexterity and high technical quality in the interpretation of the characters, as well as a high degree of drama in the performance of the main dancer.

La Sylphide is considered the first romantic ballet in the history of dance. Although the use of spikes, long skirts and the inclusion of characters evoking supernatural beings were not new in 1832, it was with this work that these elements gained greater dimension and became synonymous with romantic ballet. Sylphide, a winged being, awakens James on the day of his wedding to Effie and quickly enchants him. Completely smitten, James searches for Sylphide in the forest, as well as for a way to make her human so that they can live together happily ever after. The outcome is tragic, however, as Sylphide, when wrapped in a scarf that promised to bring her back to the human sphere, ends up fading away in James’ arms.

With donations as its central theme, it includes European productions such as the church lamp sent to Jerusalem by the king of Portugal, D. João V, and the baldachin that housed a monstrance or crucifix, donated by Charles VII, king of Naples. The exhibition also offers a journey through the ancient history and spiritual symbolism of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, as well as the role played by the Custody of the Holy Land. Calouste Gulbenkian’s connection to the Holy Land is also evoked, with the presentation of a 15th century Armenian illuminated manuscript given by the collector to the Armenian Patriarchate of Jerusalem.

Vita Prima. Santo António em Portugal, is intended to be, a journey through the life of the young Fernando de Bulhões. Santo António had two lives with a turning point which was his joining the Order of Friars Minor. If, on the one hand, in Italy and France, he is better known as a preacher and a teacher of this Order, on the other hand, in Portugal, oral tradition has preserved the memory of this figure’s childhood and youth. This exhibition is a proposal to understand how the saint and the values associated with him (sacred and profane) became pillars of Lisboa’s identity.

Lisboa’s Nativity scenes

In addition to the lights, trees and various Christmas decorations, Lisboa has representations of Nativity scenes of different sizes and shapes. It was 800 years ago that St. Francis of Assisi created the first reproduction of the Nativity in Greccio, Italy. With the aim of educating the inhabitants of that town, which resembled Bethlehem, the Catholic friar asked the villagers to represent the birth of Jesus, embodying the characters of the Holy Family. In 1223, the need arose to create sculpted versions of the moment, what we now call the Nativity scene.

Unlike what happens in other countries, the Traditional Portuguese Nativity scene adds a list of characters to the figures of the Holy Family, bringing the Catholic story closer to Lusitanian culture. The figures in Portuguese Nativity scenes don’t always correspond to the time of Christ’s birth, but in larger representations it is common to see a miller and his mill, a laundress, dancers from a folklore group, a woman with a pitcher on her head, a baker and his wood-fired oven, among many other extras.
As one of Portugal’s greatest Christmas traditions, there are many places in Lisboa where the Nativity scene is represented, whether in the streets, museums, churches or even shopping centres.

One of the greatest allusions to the Nativity can be found in Basílica da Estrela. It was commissioned by Queen D. Maria I and is composed of around 400 figures. These figures were built in the Baroque style in the 18th century by sculptor Machado de Castro and they can be seen from the front and from the sides through a glazed cabinet that protects them. The various sculpted figures, mostly in terracotta, are set against a backdrop of wood and cork, positioned in a play of light and shadow that allows you to observe their theatrical nature.

In Lisboa’s Cathedral you can also visit another Nativity scene created by the same author. Smaller in size but full of details, you can see unique pieces such as ox carts, elephants, the magnificent procession of the Magi and the poor costumes of the shepherds.

In the heart of Lisboa, in Graça, you’ll find the Nativity scene in the Capela de Nossa Senhora do Monte. Designed by António Ferreira and dating from the 18th century, the sculpture mainly depicts the adoration of the shepherds. After the 1755 earthquake, part of the work was damaged and was replaced and added to. This juxtaposition of characters means that today you can find two Holy Families here.

The Museu do Azulejo (National Tile Museum), which houses the Igreja da Madre de Deus, is now exhibiting a treasure that has been kept for over 200 years - the oldest Portuguese baroque Nativity scene. Commissioned from master António Ferreira, it consists of 42 unique sculptures. A staging on a blue background, with angels flying. The figures are of great realism, detail and proportion, with some reaching 70 centimetres in height.

Nativity scenes can be found not only in churches and museums. At the Amoreiras Shopping Centre, the representation of the Nativity is already an icon in Lisboa. Set up on the shopping centre’s main staircase, the scene tells the story of Jesus’ birth, bringing together dozens of figures, some even mechanical. This year the person in charge is the designer Cláudia Perdigão. To make the exhibition not only contemplative but also informative, it is also possible to find out more about certain costumes through the digital information available.

From churches to museums and other cultural facilities, as well as the streets and public spaces, there are many Nativity scenes to behold in a Lisboa that shines at Christmas time. The best thing is to find out for yourself.
Japan: Festivities and Traditions

The celebration of the New Year, the Boys and Girls Parties, the purification, protection and funerary rites, as well as the fertility cults and the end of year ceremonies are some of the festivities and rituals of Japan, a country full of religious traditions mostly originating in Shintoism, to which practices from Buddhism and Christianity were added. The exhibition ‘Japão: Festas e Tradições’ proposes an immersive journey to these festivities. Among set designs, recreations of altars and cult spaces, objects of devotion, statuettes and pictures, there are more than 1500 pieces to see.

Other recent examples

Other recent examples presents a set of conceptual works on the psychological resonances of the foundation of meaning through the word, also addressing issues of language and multilingualism in themes of grief, melancholy and transience. Alejandro Cesarco, a Uruguayan artist and curator of exhibitions such as the São Paulo Biennial (2018) and ARCO (Madrid, 2020), presents, among other works, Index (An Educator), a new work made up of 18 pieces in which names, keywords and concepts are compiled alphabetically. This is his most extensive work in an ongoing series of indexes created by the artist and is an evolutionary guide to his interests, readings and activities, developing like a self-portrait that evolves over time.

‘O Castelo Surrealista de Mário Cesariny’ is an exhibition that celebrates the centenary of the most important figure in Portuguese surrealism. It is inspired by the book that Cesariny dedicated to the life and work of Vieira da Silva and Árpád Szenes and which title gets its inspiration from the first surrealist manifest by André Breton. The exhibition tried to pay tribute to his life and his poetic and plastic work in the context of the disparate times and works that Cesariny claimed as a source of inspiration, the artists he knew, but also the portraits made of him, the cultures he admired, the lovers he knew and the objects he surrounded himself with.

Through 240 pieces from the 18th and 19th centuries, ‘Tesouros na Palma da Mão’ reveals a collection of snuff bottles, exquisite objects of multiple shapes, colours and decorations, the result of the mastery of Chinese artisans from the Qing dynasty. These jars were created to store ground tobacco or to smell the snuff and make it easier to consume. In Chinese society, snuff bottles were seen as utilitarian objects and as a sign of sophistication and status. They were made from a variety of materials, from carved minerals, ceramics, blown glass, worked ivory or lacquer, making them true works of art. The exhibition is divided into seven sections, which present the variety of materials and ways of making snuff bottles, their use, history and evolution.

Since 1969, the artist Pires Vieira has been developing a process of research and retrospective, starting from an abstract register to question the values of two-dimensionality and the ‘objectuality’ of painting. In a profound exercise in which he questions the contemporary possibilities of pictorial practice, he crosses verbal language with painting and questions its visuality on the level of ‘objectuality’ transformed by words. It is on this level of analysis between word and image that Pires Vieira takes the audience closer to the dynamics of critical, political and social awareness, partly associated with the neo-realist cultural heritage.

Bordalo in Transit

Until June 2024; from Tuesday to Sunday; from 10 am to 6 pm; Museu Bordalo Pinheiro (metro: Campo Grande | buses: 701, 717, 731, 735, 736, 747, 767, 778, 783, 796, 798, 206, 207). Tickets: 2 euros. More information at: museubordalopinheiro.pt

‘Bordalo em Trânsito’ is an invitation to take a journey through Rafael Bordalo Pinheiro’s artistic work. In an exhibition divided in three sections, it is possible to make a plural interpretation of the artist’s talent and creativity in the light of the present, keeping in mind that a critical spirit and humour can be the perfect allies for the construction of an active, participated and constructive citizenship. In ‘Bordalo ao espelho’ (‘Bordalo in the mirror’), the self-portrait is the protagonist. The artist presents himself, is transfigured and defies the sense of observation. ‘Zé Povinho Identidade e Política’ (‘Zé Povinho Identity and Politics’) presents the artist’s greatest creation: Zé Povinho, the symbolic representation of the Portuguese people. Finally, ‘Bordalo à Mesa’ (‘Bordalo at the Table’) presents a theme that was very dear to the artist: gastronomy. In this section there are graphic records and ceramics pieces of royal opulence.

Di Vetro is an exhibition that reveals a transversal vision of the materiality of glass and its infinite capacities. This ode to the creative forces of the universe is also a journey beginning at the golden age, reflected in works by the Venetian Andrea Zilio, continuing through modernity with the Azoici vases by Emmanuel Babled, founder of the gallery, and culminating with fluid forms in pieces like The Act of a Line by Marijke De Cock, artist and jewellery designer for Dries Van Noten.
