There is also room for Maratona Ópera XXI, the contemporary opera contest, that will present emerging singers. City of Lisboa

Useful Information

Lisboa is the capital of Portugal and the country’s biggest city, located on the estuary of the Tejo river, on the European Atlantic coast. It is continental Europe’s westernmost capital. Portugal’s official language is Portuguese. Derived from Latin roots, Portuguese is the third most spoken European language in the world, with around 200 million speakers. Around 3 million people live in the Lisboa region, with around 600 thousand living in the capital itself. The Portuguese Constitution allows religious freedom, with various religions being practised in Portugal.

Electric voltage: 230 / 400 volts, on a 50-hertz frequency. The electric sockets adhere to European standards. Blade plugs (US standard) must be used in conjunction with a 230 volts transformer, as well as an adaptor.

In Lisboa winters are mild and summers hot, though moderated by its location near the sea. During spring and autumn there are usually sunny days with mild temperatures.

Local currency and Payments

The Euro is Portugal’s official currency, having been introduced in January 2002. 1 Euro is divided into 100 cents. There are coins of 1, 2, 5, 10, 20 and 50 cents and 1 and 2 Euros. The bills can be distinguished by their size and colour and have the following face values: 5, 10, 20, 50, 100, 200 and 500 Euros. In Portugal, payments can be made in cash, bank transfer, cheque, credit cards and debit cards.

FESTIVALS

TODOS

Until 10th September; weekends; various times; various cultural venues and leisure spaces in Lisboa. Free entry. More information at: festivaltodos.com

The contemporary performative arts invite everyone to dive into a cultural interaction that destroys territorial barriers and ghettos associated with immigration in an inclusive idea of culture. Music, theatre, dance, street art, performance, as well as the picture exhibitions and the short film showings celebrate Lisboa's interculturality. Art is joined by the gastronomic diversity with seasonings from the four corners of the world. In this 15th edition, besides having more activities, the event is also inaugurating the tour mode, creating an opportunity for greater contact among the public and of the public with the artists.

Lisboa Mistura

Lisboa Mistura is a cultural event that celebrates the urban community and the diversity which is part of the Portuguese capital’s DNA. It lasts for two intense days of music, gatherings, talks, workshops, party and, above all, cultural and artistic sharing. The days begin with debates; the first questions visibility in a multicultural Lisboa and the second focuses on co-creation and participatory art. Both days unfold to the sound of different performances, which include orchestras, Djs, dance and other presentations.

Fado

INTANGIBLE HERITAGE OF HUMANITY
The song of Lisboa and the World

Classified as Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity by UNESCO since November 2011, Fado is the purest expression of Lisboa's "soul". Much more than just a song, Fado is a musical manifestation of feeling Portuguese and a city's way of life, always accompanied by the solemn and melancholy chords of the Portuguese guitar.

Considered a brand inseparable from the culture and tradition of the Portuguese capital, Fado has been for at least two centuries, part of the city's heritage that endowed it with soul and voice. But since influences from overseas, and from various cultures which arrived in Lisboa can also be heard in Fado, Lisboa's song is now deservedly a shared heritage with the world. Inspired from a simple and sentimental language, Fado's universal character surpasses all barriers and is now enjoyed by millions of fans worldwide. This internationalization of Fado is greatly due to the charisma and the voice of Amália Rodrigues, the most renowned fado singer of all time, who from the 1950's took Lisboa's song to the most prestigious venues, from Russia to Japan. More recently, a new generation of singers of this genre has given the song a new vitality, placing it in the circuits of World Music. The ultimate international recognition of Fado comes with UNESCO's highest recognition, whose award of the Intangible Heritage of Humanity title makes this a perfect example of how a centuries-old tradition of a city becomes the identity symbol of a people. Therefore, whenever the lights are dimmed in a fado house and someone says "Silence, Fado is about to be sung", this is not just a ritual that is being performed. It is, as Amália Rodrigues would say, "a strange form of life" that is being renewed.

Colina das Artes

From 8th to 16th September; in various spaces of the São Vicente parish. Free entry. More information at: www.facebook.com/colinadasartes

For eight consecutive days, of all the hills of Lisboa, São Vicente will be the most dedicated to the arts. The programme of this culture festival includes music, literature, fado, cinema, outdoor activities for the whole family and an exhibition totally dedicated to Natália Correia, celebrating the centenary of her birth. The 8th and the 9th will be totally dedicated to fado, in Parque do Patriarcado and Mercado de Santa Clara, next to Feira da Ladra, with two shows: ‘Fados de São Vicente’ and ‘As Canções de Carlos do Carmo’. The exhibition dedicated to the Azorean writer will open in Igreja da Graça on the 13th and, on the 14th and the 15th, the musical programme brings concerts to Largo da Graça, the Cloisters of Igreja da Graça and the Sophia de Mello Breyner Viewpoint.
The ‘Invisible Present’ marks the 4th edition of BoCA. As a reflection on the powers which prevent equality, justice and freedom, renowned and emerging artists venture to create by this standard. Paul B. Preciado exhibits, in a national premiere, the awarded filmed letter to Virginia Woolf ‘Orlando, my political autobiography’, and also presents, for the first time in Portugal, the conference-performance ‘I am the monster that speaks to you’. Agnieszka Polska risks the first creation on stage with ‘The Talking Car’, a play about a group of people who tried to escape a speeding vehicle. Julian Hetzel and Ntando Cele premiere ‘SPAfrica’, a show that investigates how capitalism is associated with racism. Ana Borralho & João Galante create ‘Chat Room’, a participatory art experience in which the stage becomes a virtual chat room. Pedro Sousa makes his debut in opera and presents a sound installation at MAAT; Herlander presents a new musical and performative creation at MNAC; Vera Mantero and Teresa Silva premiere the performance ‘Um Pequeno Exercício de Composição’.

From 2nd September to 15th October; in several cultural venues of Lisboa; Tickets: depending on the presentation.

Lisboa is the starting point for ‘Cornucopia’, Björk’s international tour. Imagined based on ‘utopia’, the artist’s last album, ‘Cornucopia’ premiered in New York, at The Shed. The show has an avant-garde digital design created by the artists Tobias Gremmler, Andy Huang, Nick Knight, M/M and scenography by Chiara Stephenson. On stage there will be a group composed of Viibra flute, clarinet, harp, drums, electronics and several personalized instruments, implemented into the surround sound stage design. There is also a personalized reverberation chamber, making this one of the artist’s most innovative productions.

ANAVITÓRIA

3rd September; at 9 pm; Teatro Tivoli BBVA; Av. da Liberdade, 182-188 (metro: Avenida). Tickets: from 20 to 30 euros. More information at: teatrotivolibbva.pt

On tour with ‘Voz e Violão’, the Brazilian folk-pop duo ANAVITÓRIA, which is one of the artists with more streams on the streaming platforms, will be in Lisboa for an acoustic concert with several well-known songs, such as ‘Trevo (Tu)’. The two school friends Ana and Vitória, who have been singing together since 2015, have collected various awards during their joint career, having won four Latin Grammys (twice for Best Portuguese Language Contemporary Pop Album (2019 and 2020) and twice for Best Portuguese Language Song (2017 and 2021).
Caetano Veloso presents his most recent record ‘Meu Coco’. Released in 2021, after the musician celebrated his 80th birthday, the new work, now presented live, crosses the beats from Bahia with refined and delicate orchestrations. The show is not limited to the new songs; in the artist’s own words, it will have an ‘almost cinematographic script feature’, which, as he says, ‘is not merely intended to please the audience that wants to hear live what they learned in the new album, but also everyone who wants to relive my already renowned songs’.

9th and 10th September; at 9:30 pm; Coliseu de Lisboa; Rua das Portas de Santo Antão, 96 (metro: Avenida).
Tickets: from 25 to 100 euros. More information at: coliseulisboa.com
Benjamin Clementine is back in Portugal, this time accompanied by his new album ‘And I Have Been’. A work entirely written, sung, produced and mixed by the artist and, according to him, imagined during the pandemic. Very popular in our country and internationally acclaimed as the biggest talent of his generation, Benjamin Clementine has won the Mercury Prize and represents, in contemporary times, the artistic heritage of geniuses like Nina Simone, Brel or Edith Piaf.

Woody Allen

Portugal welcomes the American filmmaker and musician who will perform with the New Orleans Jazz Band, with which he has worked for more than 40 years. With a known routine of playing on Mondays at the Carlyle Hotel in Manhattan for more than 25 years, the group is again on tour through Europe with a diverse repertoire composed of more than 1200 popular songs from the beginning of the 20th century, mainly inspired by the city of New Orleans. As we have come to expect, Woody Allen’s concerts are always a surprise, both for the audience and for the band, because no one ever knows which song comes next, since the artist believes that he should be led by the spontaneous nature of music.

In Lisboa, with eyes set on the sea

Lisboa is accompanied by the Atlantic Ocean in all of its extension. For a roadmap with eyes set on the sea, there are several points worth exploring. From Ericeira, where it is said that ‘the ocean is bluer’, to Arrábida, where the whitish limestone cliffs draw the line separating the mountain range from immense water. On the way, and equally unmissable, are observation points, such as the Palaces and the nooks of Serra de Sintra, the westernmost point of continental Europe, Cabo da Roca, and Cascais immediately next to it.

If Ericeira highlights the colour of the water, there is nothing like ‘seeing to believe’ and confirm. Once in this fishing village, a little more than 30 minutes from the centre of Lisboa, there are stops and paths to be included. From the centre of the village, with its cobbled alleys and rigorously painted houses and windows, one heads towards the sea and the fishermen beach, which several meter high wall is a mandatory stopping point to contemplate the ocean.
The road follows the coast line and heads for Sintra, for its Palaces and nooks in the Serra, that are unique viewpoints with the ocean in the distance. The balcony of Palácio da Pena is just an example, as well as the ramparts of Castelo dos Mouros or the Peninha viewpoint. From any one of these points, it is possible to contemplate the vegetation of Parque Natural Sintra-Cascais, the houses in the village and the sea in the background. Between Sintra and Cascais, through the roads of the Serra or through the main route, there is still another mandatory stop: Cabo da Roca. At the place where 'earth ends and the sea begins', about 140 meters above sea level, Portugal’s westernmost point offers a panoramic view over the immensity of the Atlantic Ocean, in a place where it is possible to see the Portuguese coast up to Almada.

Following the route, there is an unobstructed landscape with the waves in the distance. The first image, composed of a vast beach and its characteristic dunes, lets us know that we have reached Cascais, where we are welcomed by the Guincho beach. Its windy characteristics make it very appreciated for several water sports, such as surf, windsurf or kitesurf.

Continuing the way along the coast, the next stop is called Boca do Inferno (Hell’s Mouth), which is one of the most emblematic viewpoints of Cascais. The name is due not only to the tremendous impact of the waves which can be felt here, but also to the morphological analogy. It is very probable that in the past it may have been a cavern and that the upper layers were destroyed, leaving an enormous open hole.

South of the bridge over the Tejo, the unavoidable beauty of the view over the Atlantic continues. Right away we have to point out the Protected Landscape of the Fossil Cliff of Costa de Caparica, which stretches along the coastline until Lagoa de Albufeira. Over time, erosion has shaped the cliffs, that, today, are home to some birds of prey, such as the round-winged eagle and the tower owl. The most effective spot to observe every detail of this landscape is the viewpoint at Convento dos Capuchos, that offers a panoramic view from Serra de Sintra to Cabo Espichel.

In a journey through Serra da Arrábida, where we can find the highest seaside cliffs in continental Portugal, there are also viewpoints to observe nature and the ocean in the background, as well as hidden caverns, which allow for unique images of the surrounding landscape. From the rough seas of Ericeira and Sintra to the (almost) hidden paradise of Arrábida, Lisboa breathes ocean in all of its extension. Discover by yourself.

The exhibition features rare specimens, various objects of painting, sculpture, photography and porcelain, as well as graphic documents that illustrate their usefulness. The exhibition ‘Em Bruto: Relações Comoventes’ is a large installation which adapts itself to the place where it is presented. From Fundación Cerezales Antonino y Cinia de Léon, in Spain, to CCB, the artistic structure starts from beams, trestles and joists that summon notions of spatial reconstruction and reconfiguration. The set created is therefore as much physical as a reflection on architecture, the city, space and modernity. For this reason, the exhibition includes a reading room, where it is possible to consult books mentioned in the installation, and an introductory room to the new piece, composed of a series of elements that the author, Fernanda Fragateiro, has called Materials Lab.

From comics to commercial art, not forgetting traditional or naïve art, art brut, psychedelia and the cinema, there is much to see.

¿Is the Earth still round?

¿A Terra ainda é redonda?

This is the question that the artist Cristina Ataíde asks in an exhibition which presents the different dimensions of changing matter. With several works created on purpose to be included in the exhibition, it is possible to discover the artist’s style and language, which are created by an inner need and generate forms that move between the topological and the psychic, through the observation of the landscape. Among drawings, sculptures and installations, there are 40 works to enjoy and with which to establish connections between the material and the spiritual.
Urban [R]evolution is the largest national urban art exhibition. With a big dimension, diversity and experience component, it brings together 18 Portuguese and foreign artists under the curatorship of Pauline Foessel and Pedro Alonzo. Original installations tell the story of the urban art development, from its initial phase, in the form of graffiti and paintings in the metro, until the renowned street art. The different exhibition cores had the direct intervention of each artist during the assembly process. Various immersive areas were created exclusively for this showing, transforming the Cordoaria into a space that reflects the different styles and techniques which have evolved since the beginning of urban art until today.

Until 31st December; from Tuesday to Sunday; from 10 am to 6 pm; Museu de Lisboa; Palácio Pimenta; Campo Grande, 245 (metro: Campo Grande | buses: 701, 717, 731, 735, 736, 738, 747, 750, 755, 767, 778, 783, 796, 798). Tickets: 3 euros. More information at: museudelisboa.pt

Vita Prima. Santo António em Portugal is intended to be a journey through the life of the young Fernando de Bulhões. Santo António had two lives with a turning point in joining the Order of Friars Minor. If, on the one hand, in Italy and France, he is better known as a preacher and teacher of this Order, on the other hand, in Portugal, oral tradition has tried to preserve the memory of this figure’s childhood and youth. This exhibition is a proposal to understand how the saint and the values associated with him became pillars of Lisboa’s identity.
Japan: Festivities and Traditions

The celebration of the New Year, the Boys and Girls Parties, the purification, protection and funerary rites, as well as the fertility cults and the end of year ceremonies are some of the festivities and rituals of Japan, a country full of religious traditions mostly originating in Shintoism, to which practices from Buddhism and Christianity were added. The exhibition ‘Japão: Festas e Tradições’ proposes an immersive journey to these festivities. Among set designs, recreations of altars and cult spaces, objects of devotion, statuettes and pictures, there are more than 1500 pieces to see.

Museu de Lisboa; Palácio Pimenta; Campo Grande, 245 (metro: Campo Grande
Tickets: 3 euros. More information at: museudelisboa.pt

Over 26 years, Luís Caetano Pereira de Carvalho built the centre piece of the exhibition ‘Cidade-Miniatura’, which the museum team affectionately calls ‘the fireman’s model’. The meticulous work made in polychrome wood is 2,21 meters long and 0,89 meters wide, in a 1:1000 scale. This model represents Lisboa in the first decades of the 20th century. It represents all the carefully studied buildings which were created with the characteristics and colours of the time, revealing the evolution of the city and the changes time has brought about since then.
