What Happened Around the School This Week

Our Lower School students participated in an engaging Conflict Resolution Workshop led by our School Social Worker, Ms. Rama, with High School students serving as peer facilitators. Through interactive discussions, scenarios, and activities, students explored positive ways to manage disagreements, communicate respectfully, understand different perspectives, and find peaceful solutions.

ISME Volleyball Team Advance to Round Two!

Our ISME Volleyball Team have advanced to Round Two of the SOP Volleyball Tournament, proudly securing their place among the top 16 qualifying teams!

The tournament is part of Qatar's School Olympic Program, bringing together students from schools across the country and providing young athletes with opportunities to compete, develop their skills, and demonstrate the values of teamwork, discipline, perseverance, and sportsmanship.

Reaching the next stage is a wonderful achievement for our team and reflects the dedication, teamwork, and determination they have shown throughout the competition. Beyond the results on the court, experiences like these encourage students to challenge themselves, represent their school with pride, and grow as both athletes and team members.

We are incredibly proud of our team and look forward to cheering them on in the next round.

Islamic Scientists Symposium: Celebrating a Legacy of Knowledge

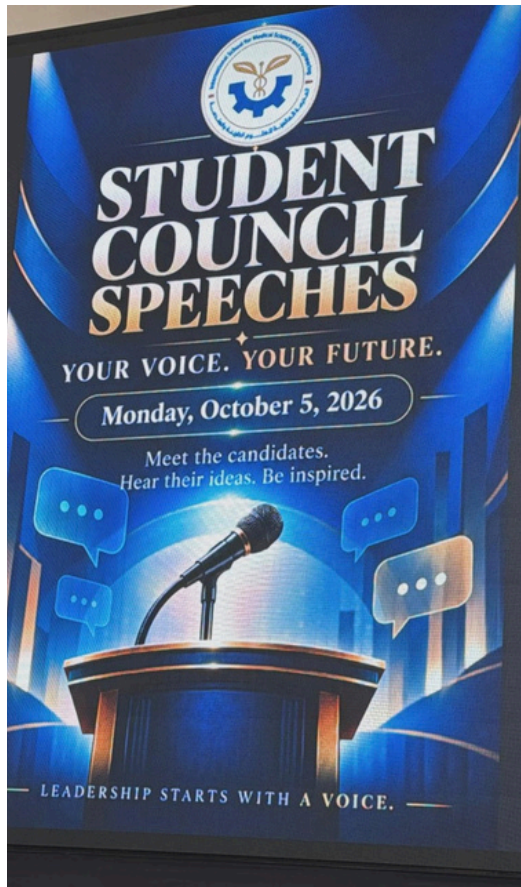

Our students participated in an engaging Islamic Scientists Symposium, exploring the remarkable contributions of Muslim scholars and scientists to fields such as medicine, mathematics, engineering, astronomy, and optics.

Through student-led presentations and displays, they highlighted how the discoveries and ideas of pioneering Muslim scholars helped shape scientific knowledge and continue to influence the modern world.

The symposium provided students with an opportunity to strengthen their research, communication, and presentation skills while developing a deeper appreciation for the rich scientific and intellectual heritage of the Islamic world. It was a wonderful celebration of knowledge, curiosity, innovation, and the lasting impact of Muslim scientists on human progress.

Student Council Speeches: Student Voice in Action

Our Student Council candidates took center stage to deliver their campaign speeches, sharing their ideas, goals, and vision for making a positive impact at ISME.

Students spoke with confidence and enthusiasm as they presented their plans to their peers and explained why they hoped to represent the student body.

The speeches provided a meaningful opportunity to develop leadership, public speaking, communication, and advocacy skills, while encouraging the entire student body to think about the importance of student voice, representation, and responsible leadership. We are proud of every candidate who had the courage to step forward, share their voice, and take an active role in our school community.

Celebrating Our Amazing Teachers

This week, ISME celebrated Teachers' Day, taking a special moment to recognize and appreciate the dedication, passion, and hard work of our incredible educators. Our teachers do much more than teach—they inspire, encourage, guide, and empower our students every day.

The celebration brought our team together for a joyful gathering filled with appreciation, laughter, and well-deserved recognition. It was our way of saying thank you to the educators who make a difference in the lives of our students and contribute every day to the heart of our ISME community.

Happy Teachers' Day to our amazing ISME educators!
